

Let's go through KanamoriKamper's (Rue) document one step at a time.

No TLDR. This requires deep context.

I'm making this response personally, because as of June 12th, Chris is being transferred to a psychology-ward by his parents after making an attempt on his life for the second time. Out of privacy for his emotions, I will not be including screenshots from these dms, as they include pictures of a tw// noose, markings, and emotional distress. He is safe and cared for at the moment.

I'm not Chris, and I don't know every emotion he felt during this ordeal, but to the best of my ability I'm going to go over my side, part of his side, and more details left out on Rue's side. Chris can make his own response when he's back, but this is mine. This is not me defending everything he's done. This is going to be to clear the air of doubt and provide proof against Rue and Gamechanger's document.

I'd like to make two opinions clear from the start:

- I believe Anthem is in the right regarding Chris

- I believe that Rue and Gamechanger are in the wrong

-Blu has been in drama before in this community for consenting to be drawn in NSFW art with a minor and allowing minors to follow his NSFW alt

- Yes, I was involved in controversy on December 25th of 2021. This was already solved 17 months ago, accepted the consequences and repercussions, learned through trial and error as well as extensive therapy and self-rehab, and I've moved on.

-He apologized for these things but lied in doing so and did not stop his actions

- No, I have done neither of these things ever again afterwards. I deleted my 18+ account on July 18th 2022 and will never make another one.

-He has engaged in ERP/Sexting and other sexual activities with minors while he was an adult for at least 2 years

-He has sent and received nudes with minors in the past

- No, I have never engaged in ERP with a minor, I have never sexted, no proof for either of these was ever provided.

-He is well known in multiple communities for being disingenuous, performing actions solely to gain clout, and deflecting/downplaying his actions when people deem them problematic.

-He portrays himself as a completely different character online compared to what he actually is

- Maybe in 2021, but afterwards no, my personality has completely shifted and I talked about this in my original document. Therapy taught me a lot of emotional progress and being more honest and forward with myself around my friends. I'm still learning new things monthly about myself, especially given what happened with me and Bea and a few other of my friends, this is proof that I will continue to make mistakes and improve from them as any human does. I will never ever be the perfect un-phased angel you expect me to be, I will always be flawed.

-He previously requested CP from a 15 year old on his NSFW alt
-He interacted with minor NSFW accounts on his main alt
-He enjoyed Loli porn as of nine months ago

- A.) This was proven to be incorrect as the person in question had [13] on their account and had lied about their age. They have since deleted their account (as shown in my original doc, although I admit this is hearsay besides the proof given of their account deletion). Also the accusation of ever possessing content like that has no proof and is utterly and completely false.
- B.) Proven to have been false and misinterpreted because of a liked post as a mistake by me. All information in the original doc.
- C.) Never in my life have I ever, no proof was ever given for this assertion nor was it ever touched upon. This was completely hearsay and false. You just copy pasted Seabo's doc with zero fact checking.

previous section), where he alleges Anthem never changed despite being gone for 3-4 months, almost 8-12 weeks MORE than Blu, and showing much more improvement than Blu has.

- I left twitter on March 14th, 2022. I started therapy on March 20th, 2022. I came back to twitter on May 6th with my doc. I had my last therapy session on September 30th, 2022.
- That's 2-3 months of break and 6 months of therapy. I have changed greatly from 2021 but you don't know me so you have no right comparing my progress to anothers.

- So when you're comparing Anthem and I it's okay in your eyes, but when a twitter user does it, it's not? Make your mind up. More time doesn't equal more change of character. Determination with the individual therapist is what matters.

resulted in him leaving to, for some reason, consult his college counselor for help regarding his mental health. Why did he do this instead of getting an actual therapist? No idea, and if you ask Blu he'll get defensive about it. Blu left for around 3 weeks, only to return. Rightfully, people

- I had access to my school's licensed health and therapy program for free through tuition. Why would I not use it? Your wording is callowed.

Additionally, what Blu is referring to when he says "Constantly talking about how you guys want to kill me" is in reference to messages Rue sent in the groupchat about wanting to kill him, which were ultimately jokes, along with 2 tweets she had made about bringing a gun to his college after his dox had been floating around, which even Rue agrees was bad and joke or not, has since apologized for.

Rue apologized for this months ago, but the main point is that even when in bad taste, her messages were ultimately jokes and she had no intention of acting on her words. I hope it is not a hot take to want a pedophile who hurt and manipulated multiple people dead, but in the end, her words were jokes and were a product of her frustration at the fact people in the Friday Night Funkin' were essentially letting horrible people walk scot-free because they liked to pick and choose based on how much they liked them.

- Okay so, Rue "jokes" about gore, murder, doxxing, swatting, a school shooting, my real identity, and my family's safety, Chris's appearance, etc. and somehow because she apologized (never made an attempt to reach out to me or to Chris privately by the way, this was all carried out semi-publically as response to backlash) somehow that makes it okay, but when Chris and I out them for saying these awful things in a group chat, that's stalking and bullying? Okay. So we're supposed to take Rue's apology with sincerity while Chris' apology is "for attention".

definition, he was never doxxed by anyone in the group. His personal information was found out due to his own ineptitude, and lack of internet safety.

- I think your overuse of the word doxxing without knowing the actual definition is very potent and I really dislike it. Let me set a baseline definition from the Oxford Dictionary:

Dictionary

Definitions from Oxford Languages · Learn more

 dox

verb INFORMAL

gerund or present participle: doxxing

search for and publish private or identifying information about (a particular individual) on the internet, typically with malicious intent.

"hackers and online vigilantes routinely dox both public and private figures"

Doxing or doxxing (originally spelled d0xing) is the act of publicly providing personally identifiable information about an individual or organization, usually via the Internet.<sup>[1][2][3]</sup> Historically, the term has been used interchangeably to refer to both the aggregation of this information from public databases and social media websites (like Facebook), as well as the publication of previously private information obtained through criminal or otherwise fraudulent means (such as hacking and social engineering). The aggregation and provision of previously published material is generally a legal practice, though it may be subject to laws concerning stalking and intimidation.<sup>[4]</sup> Doxing may be carried out for reasons such as online shaming, extortion, and vigilante aid to law enforcement.<sup>[5][6]</sup> It also may be associated with hacktivism.

- With this in mind, you absolutely doxxed Chris, because you're using his information for malicious purposes whether you like it or not. Just because the information is readily available doesn't mean it's ethical or just to reveal it publically. Most of the information you got was from the doxbins, which is a malicious source
- Using information you grabbed off of his paypal, his music label. Seriously, how is this not stalking in your eyes? How is searching up his Facebook (which by the way is not under 'TheMaskedChris' but rather "CJDraws" which is his old alias), his Qobuz, and his Paypal, specially to use as examples in this doc not stalking?
- His Paypal is only available to people who commission him, and why would you look up his non-publicly advertised Facebook for information like that? He has never advertised that socially which means you dug deep for that information.

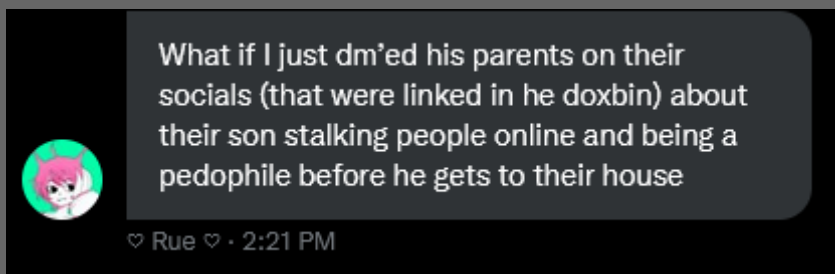

Even so, what in the hell are you expecting someone who's been affected by you two to the brink of suicide to feel towards you? Are you expecting things to be fine and dandy just because Rue was essentially forced into giving an insincere apology to you?

- I expect you to not blame the attempt on your life, on Chris and I, who simply showed people what you were saying about us in a group chat.
- I expect you not to joke about death threats against us, because we have never done the same to you. We have never sent a threat against you like you did to us. We never threatened to dox or contact your family like you did to us.
- You made us uncomfortable in our own houses and we will never forgive you for that.
- I expect you to stop dickriding Anthem's past by using his controversy as a deflection of expectation for Chris. Half of the contents in your document compares Anthem to Chris which is unjust and unfair given that Anthem was in controversy for forcibly asking for explicit pictures, ERP, cheating in a relationship, etc. Him apologizing for it on stream is extremely valid and I believe Anthem should be forgiven, but transitively Chris apologizing for his controversy should then be equally accepted. People are more than one-dimensional, Anthem has had deep emotional issues that he dealt with through trial and tribulation. Chris is more than one-dimensional. I am more than one-dimensional. People have internal struggles that aren't public.

Not to mention though not even proof is provided of either the school shooting or Swat threat, all that's left is either a goofy threat or just a simple "I want to kill him /srs". You can't make

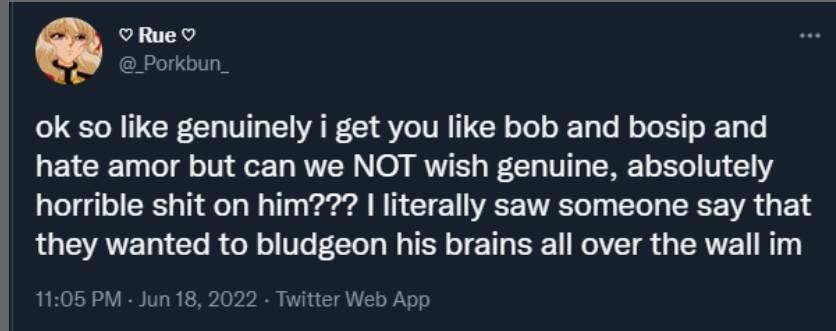

- I've showed these hundreds of times before:

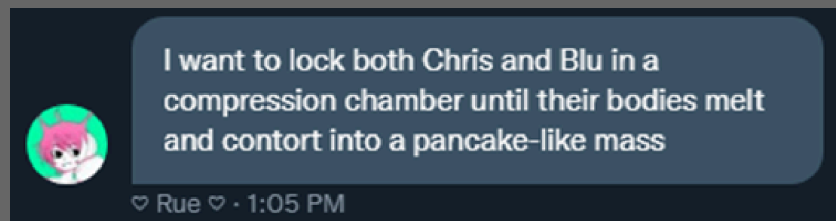

Literally word for word the proof you have asked for. You even put /srs at the end.

You say:

But you also say:

Your consistency is extremely volatile. You say that it's not okay to make such awful threats and yet you continue to do them as shown above. I don't want your apology, because anything you can muster wouldn't make up for the awful words that have come out of your mouth, unfiltered.

Once again, Chris suicide baits and brings up his own suicidal thoughts in their conversation when nothing warranted it, along with alleging she "leaked" his face.

- So let me get this straight. Rue makes a groupchat with the sole purpose of harassing, attacking, making awful 'jokes' about, and stalking Chris (in the technical sense, including digging up old accounts, looking through Wayback Machine for his retired old social media pages, etc.) Then Chris and I expose the existence of this group chat. Rue then blames their suicide attempt on this despite Chris and I having nothing to do with what they said, nor did we harass them in private or in public, and Rue never gives proof of any of this harassment that they claim we endured onto them directly. And then when Chris comes out and explains how he's felt and how he's almost been pushed to the brink of harming himself, through an extremely indepth and emotional document, it's suicide baiting just because it's coming from Chris?

Say "when nothing warranted it" shows that you simply do not care that he is having suicidal thoughts, self harm tendencies, or was equally if not more effected by the creation of your groupchat and because of your actions?

- During the writing of this document, Chris attempted **again**, because of psychological pain as well as panic attacks and harassment. That's the reason I'm making this actually. I want this back and forth to end.

Blu blocked her after this, which is very telling behavior of him.

- Blocking someone does not mean I have something to hide and I absolutely despise this narrative that people have to use the block button as a dog whistle to mean that they are ignoring criticism and hiding. It just means I don't want to see them on my timeline sucking my life away with Gamechanger bringing up the same bullet points every few months with no progress in narrative. Blocking does not equal admission of consequence or admission of guilt. Whoever came up with that mentality has a lack of problem solving skills. Blocking is just a form of "I'd rather not see you anymore, kindly."

Please keep in mind that this document was only made because Chris feared for the worst for his own reputation. Chris has only brought up his suicidal feelings to garner sympathy and redirect the vile hatred he holds for TMCHC and Rue back to them. Both Blu and Chris have said that Rue suicide baited when this is exactly what he's doing here. This is textbook emotional manipulation, bringing up your own suicidal thoughts to gain sympathy.

- The irony is genuinely palpable.
- You're telling Chris he shouldn't talk about his suicidal feelings (which is the kind of mentality that drives people to suicide in the first place) and then in the same breath you accuse him of suicide baiting, again, despite it not being bait as these are real actionable things that Chris was experiencing at the time, and then you call talking about suicidal thoughts as “emotional manipulation” despite you doing the exact same thing when faced with backlash from Chris and I making our document. So now you’ve just role-reversed what you said Chris and I were doing to you, and now you’re doing the same to him.

- Also, Chris has never said you baited suicide. That was all me by the way. I don’t stand by it anymore, but you’re slowly proving to me that those events are 50% of your entire argument as to why we’re bad people despite us never directly interacting with you, and only responding publicly when you said shit against us. If your only argument toward the harassment claim pinned on Chris and I is that we made an exposal document which had secondary emotional repercussions that we could not have known about prior, then your argument is mute.

Backing out of a suicide attempt does not mean a person is baiting, to think so is extremely close-minded and disgusting thinking. What the hell is that logic?

- This is literally word for word exactly what Chris did. Chris backed out of an attempt on himself months ago, and then backed out of another one just a day before the release of this document, and now you’re going against your own words by saying he baited which you yourself say . You contradict yourself in your own document.

Once again, Chris suicide baits and brings up his own suicidal thoughts in their conversation when nothing warranted it, along with alleging she “leaked” his face.

It's hard for me to talk about this, and I did hint at this in a tweet some time ago. I almost took my life multiple times last year, even after posting the addressing document, where I thought I could feel finally at peace. I came under the pressure of those against me, and my own mental health, and almost cut my life short because of it. Being with a knife, self-harm, and overdosing. My attempts came close, but I'm still here. I'm just happy that my attempts were unsuccessful— that I'm still standing here today, living life and being able to talk to you all again.. I'm sorry to the people close to me if this document is how you find out about my feelings and suicide attempts that I went through last year. I didn't want to worry any of you. I felt like I wasn't worth your trouble.

- This is directly taken from Chris' update document where he clearly stated that he attempted multiple times. This is not bait or made up, this is a serious situation that was directly potent in his life. You did the same thing Rue, but now he's "baiting" and you're not?
- I agree that saying that Rue had "baited" their suicide attempt into garnering sympathy was completely out of left field and extremely ill-manned of me. That was entirely my words and none of Chris' involvement, and those words came from a place of anger and frustration and so I am sorry, but that is not a valid excuse for perpetuating the same narrative back onto him or double-facing.

And I hear you ask, why don't we care about Chris's mental health? Why should any of us care about his mental health when he spread pure, hateful lies about not just us, but about Anthem, about Mokey, about multiple people who have yet to receive justice, and continues to do so to this very day? Give us a genuine reason why we should forgive him. There is no reason.

- "And I hear you ask, why don't we care about Rue's mental health? Why should any of us care about their mental health when they spread pure, hateful lies about not just us, but about Bluskys, about O.M., about multiple people who have yet to receive justice, and continue to do so to this very day? Give us a genuine reason why we should forgive them. There is no reason."
- Do you understand how that comes off from a first person perspective? You're the same problem you're trying so vehemently to solve. You act like you're innocent when this all was started by you, Rue. You accuse us of the same things your actions show, and then you take zero responsibility for the things you said in a groupchat made specifically to harass and spread lies. Your apology was made before our document was even released. Not in response.
- Rue made an apology solely to lessen the repercussions that they knew were coming when the document was released. It's not sincere, and I know this because they went against everything they promised. They claim Chris' apology wasn't sincere, but Rue made an apology just for PR because they were told our document was being released.

An apology. (Re: @TheMaskedChris @Bluskystv)

It's been 3 days and it's been eating at me. I literally had a suicidal breakdown 2 days ago and I can't take this anymore.

I can't wait for the doc to come out because I feel that I shouldn't hide from the things I've done without others calling me out for it.

- We never came at you before you made the groupchat, you are an instigator. You instigated all of the awful shit you said about me. You instigated making a group chat where you called Chris awful things behind his back and maliciously planned a video essay full of lies. And then you turn around when you're caught in the act and then blame your personal emotional struggles on the indirect actions of Chris and I.

- They don't give a fuck what Chris goes through emotionally or physically as a result of them bringing up mistakes and controversy that he has reconciled with and corrected for years ago, they are only around to dickride Rue in their echo-chamber of a groupchat. When Rue has suicidal thoughts, instead of helping her get therapy and help for their issues, they immediately rush to blame Chris.

HARASSMENT / STALKING / DOXXING

- This is from Rue's apology document:

I can't bare myself to know that I might've ruined your mental health.

- And then their tweet:

I don't give a hot damn about his mental health. Eat shit.

C Anthony @KanamoriKamper_ · 1h

I'm tired of people treating me like shit and then acting like the victim when they get their just desserts. tell me why I'm the one being attacked for something i didn't even do. nobody harsssed Chris, there's barely any proof of it

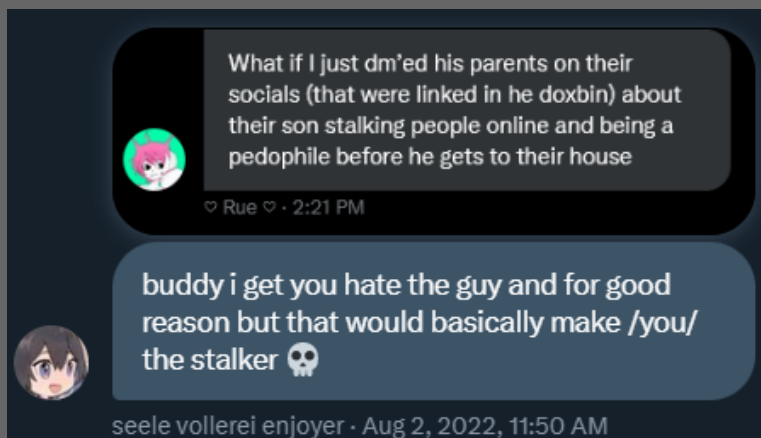

- Does this ring any bells about the harassment he got?

TMC Haterade Chuggers

- Instead of sticking around and helping Rue recover from an emotional break, they just straight up all left the group chat. They were there just to see Chris feel pain, and the moment things went south they all left. And then later down the line, they made a second group chat after this one got exposed. I have screenshots from that one as well that I will share later down this doc.
- But for some reason despite them not giving a fuck about Chris' mental health, they expect us to care about theirs. Make it make sense, it's all or it's nothing.

- Rue and Gamechanger accuse me of stalking their group chat, when in that very same group chat they were stalking Chris through his discord server announcements.

- How about we talk about you stalking by making your entire group chat spend a week looking through WaybackMachine to look up old LewderChris and CJDDraws tweets from almost 4 years ago? Do you not hold different kinds of stalking to the same standards?

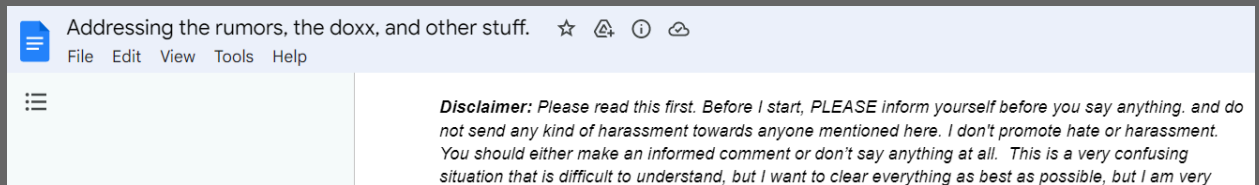

Truthfully, I have had to do some extremely deep cut investigative journalism to uncover things in the controversies that I have unfortunately been a part of. When I am made aware of a group of people whose entire objective is to use wayback/account watching/archival research in order to bring up solved issues from months or even years ago, as some way to “prove” hypocrisy against someone like Chris who has already apologized, I take that very personally.

This was not stalking. This was an investigation I started into a group of people using Chris’ mistakes as an excuse to let out their own personal anger and ill-mannered narrative, along with fucking disgusting language, as an excuse rather than a motive.

Chris as of recently has been teetering off into becoming a major lolcow and I don't think anyone has really noticed. How does Chris fit the definition of a lolcow, you may be asking?

- Raging at his detractors
- Harassing his detractors
- Using the internet as his own personal diary
- Suicide-baiting (He did the same thing he accused Rue of, by the way)
- Violent behavior towards criticism
- Threatening legal action against detractors
- Harassing former associates
- Unchecked manic episodes/behaviors

1. No, where have you provided proof of Chris attacking anyone who says he is at fault in this situation specifically pertaining to the group chat. Outside of Anthem, I have not seen Chris publicly or privately attack/harass any individual involved, directly or indirectly through his fans.

Chris puts the exact same warning at the beginning of his document that you do, attempting to stop any possible future harassment. As a content creator, this is the most power that anyone has in stopping harassment. There will always be bad eggs who do not listen to reason.

2. No, where do you show Chris harassing anyone, verbally, physically, or through sending twitter followers after them. Show me the proof.
3. Chris owns his own Twitter account. He's allowed to talk about his internal emotions just like you do on a daily basis. Criticizing him for being emotionally open and then shooting it down is exactly what adds to depressive qualities to people who are hurt.
4. As we have discussed before, there was no suicide baiting claims by Chris. Those claims were by me and me alone and apologized for.
5. Emotional openness is not violence. Also the Oxford Dictionary definition of violence is intimidation or force used against another person to enact harm. We have done neither.

6. There is no proof of Chris threatening legal action on anyone involved in this controversy from my knowledge. I've watched Anthem's video and I believe that Chris may have threatened legal action on Anthem through there, but I have no part or opinion on it and that is outside of this situation since that's between them and not me.
7. Harassment is subjective. If Anthem and Moikey feel harassed by him then they are valid for feeling so. I have no comments on it as that is not my fight, and I'm not the right person to dictate whether harassment happened in dms or privately between them.
8. Unchecked manic episodes? You mean being verbally assaulted by your army of people who don't have situational awareness or reading comprehension? Of course he's going to be upset by that, it isn't unchecked. He has friends who are willing to help him, but that doesn't mean he is immune to people pressuring him for an immediate response and all issues justified and compressed into a single nugget of digestible information. This conversation comes with internal struggles that are not public, and that definitely spark emotional tension. He doesn't owe you his personal life.

- Delusional behavior
- Superiority complex
- Playing the victim card
- The whole lolicon thing
- Covering up his bad actions
- Narcissism
- Refusal to admit faults

1. Delusional is too broad of a term and doesn't realistically talk about the issues presented in your claims.
2. Superiority complex is also an unrealistic characterization of either me or Chris. He comes off as sincere in most of his public responses imo, he was respectful during our entire process of making the document, as Queer and Jurk can attest to being a part of our group chat, and he has never once brought up follower count difference or personal fame in any argument.

3. He has never called himself a victim explicitly nor has he used a position of victimization to excuse any action as far as I've seen (but I can't look it up because he's on private). The only things used to excuse actions were his mental state and inability to directly contact Rue (which are both excuses Rue used). Rue is actually the one playing victim here, despite their group chat being directly aimed at harassing Chris and being the instigator.
4. The Uraraka controversy was dealt with years ago and yet you and gamechanger refuse to shut up about it as if he hasn't apologized three times publicly now. Here is an example of that apology given a year ago. He has taken actions to correct these mistakes, and that is the end of it. How is Anthem fine after apologizing but Chris is not? I understand that you mentioned that the point of this document was only to use the Uraraka/Amy controversy as a comparison of hypocrisy, but its inclusion in this doc taints your narrative.
5. Nothing has been covered up, in his apology Chris covered everything substantially.
6. Narcissism is excessive interest or admiration of yourself. Chris has the exact opposite of this and has explained it multiple times in his apology document as well as his recent document.
7. We have both admitted fault. At least I have, in this document. Rue has also admitted fault publicly and yet they are now going back on everything they said.

Dear Chris, TheMaskedChris, I'm sorry for what me and my friends did. My hatred of you mainly stemmed from the obsessive amor mentions I saw when I was still emotionally vulnerable from the situation, along with my hatred of the way you handled situations. That isn't and never was appropriate of me. The video I've made on you is now unlisted and an eyesore to look at, I can't bare myself to know that I might've ruined your mental health. It's a horrible feeling and I cannot believe such a thing would cause that. I didn't mean to cause harm to you or harm to you in real life. In the group chat me and my friends were in, almost everything we said were empty insults and threats, never to act on anything. I never wanted to doxx you or cause personal harm on you, I could never bring myself to do that to you, because I'm not that type of person. I got swept up in a frenzy of drama and had no boundaries or respect for your mental health and that is completely inappropriate. I cannot stress ENOUGH how sorry I am. I really cannot.

So are we ignoring this Rue? Are you taking this all back and admitting that you lied to me, to Chris, and to your entire following by making a fake apology with no merit. "It's a horrible feeling and I cannot believe such a thing would cause that” then you should have stopped just like Chris and I did after we dropped the first document on you. We did not pursue any further, you did.

You forgive Anthem after he apologizes, and you do nothing but support him (as you should as his friend, because he has improved), yet you and Gamechanger pursue Chris’s and my past religiously after all parties have moved on. This is a direct contradiction based on your assertion that apologizing is what Chris needs to do, which he has.

And to Blu, I’m sorry to you too. I should’ve never ever wished death or harm upon you, or said anything about you, in fact. I’m old enough to know that. Nothing I say will ever excuse that. The empty threats I made to drive up to your house and kill you were absolutely sickening and I have no excuse. You’re right about saying that stuff not being good for my mental health, and it was a petty mistake to interpret that as you calling me mentally ill. You were right about those things and I was foolish to not believe them. I’m sorry for you feeling so unsafe with the thought of m being around you had to tell others to watch my account to see if I would doxx you, and I’ve previously said I would never have the heart to hurt or kill anyone I know. That’s just not something in me that I would ever do. I’m sorry if I caused alarm to you, or your family. You don’t deserve that, and it was wrong. So, so wrong.

Was all of this a lie when you admitted that I was correct about your mental health. You say I didn’t go to therapy long enough, comparing me to Anthem, and yet you didn’t go at all after this. By the way, you did not send this apology to me or attempt to contact Chris or I. This was just posted and sent to me later. Also here’s another screenshot from the group chat of you saying that it was justified that you wanted me to kill myself. “You should know how to speak to people when your full address has been doxxed” okay so blackmail and also a superiority complex from you, that’s an implicit

i wrote up a whole paragraph to blu

i dont even know if i should send it

"Hey Jake, you have the biggest balls in the world to speak about me, Jurk, and my friends. You make yourself out to be this noble and kind angel when you're nothing of the sort. Stop acting like you're taking the moral high ground when you've literally groomed minors and owned CP. You can legally be prosecuted because of it, REGARDLESS if you've apologized. You should know how to speak to people when your full address has been doxxed, motherfucker. You talk about how talking about wanting to kill you "isn't good for your mental health", when it's JUSTIFIED. I am a CSA survivor and it disgusts me that repulsive, squelching, sick cunts like you get to walk free. Keep my name out of your mouth, we know who leaked my group chat and they'll be dealt with accordingly. Go to hell."

thats what i was going to send to him.

♥ Rue ♥ · 5:43 PM

threat to use my personal information against me. Whatever perpetuates your two-faced proof-less narrative. Thanks for telling me to kill myself, I really appreciate it, this really helps my case.

From the end of Rue's document:

already ruined reputation. If you feel the urge to make a tweet or document responding to this just to grovel about how sorry you are, just don't. If you make any of the previous mistakes you've made, try to sugarcoat what you have done, downplay what you did, downplay my own mental health via framing it as "sui-bait", or lie about me and my friends, I WILL respond and I am prepared to defend myself, publicly. I don't forgive you and I probably never will. Keep your head down and things might go easier for you. The backlash will die down eventually so you

Everything you said here is actually ver-baitem exactly what you did.

- "try to sugarcoat what you have done, downplay what you did" which is proven in you saying that what you said were just "jokes" and not threats on our lives. That is downplaying.

Two, we've already gone over the jokes Rue and the other members of the group chat made. Now that we've actually seen what she said about them, these are nothing more than jokes. Tell me, how and why would Rue have to resort to cannibalism, or locking Blu and Chris in a compression chamber? Where would she even get access to the materials to carry out these plans? These aren't practical methods of killing them. These are nothing more than JOKES.

- "downplay my own mental health via framing it as sui-bait" is word for word what you just said about Chris going through the same suicidal thoughts you did. And even when he actually attempted you said you didn't give a fuck. Chris and I at least tried to reach out to make sure you were safe.

document. To tell a long story short, the document is an example of Chris attempting to get sympathy from his fans, all the while suicide baiting and blaming his actions on possible

- "lie about me and my friends" not only do you clearly know nothing about me or my controversy, but you continually spread lies about me and refuse to listen to facts from commenters or my 30-something page doc. You would rather regurgitate the same few lies in order to get your point across than own up to being wrong.

---

I want to reference something a friend said to me.

"If you walk past someone's private house and glance in the window and see a murder, would you call for help or do nothing at all?"

I did not stalk you. My friend got invited to the group, saw the awful shit you said, and relayed it to me and Chris. Stay stupid shit and win stupid prizes. I look at your account periodically for my own safety to make sure you aren't getting ready to harass more of my friends and spread more extremely hurtful lies or spread doxxed information on me like you have in the past. Looking at your account every once in a while is not stalking, it's just part of being on a public platform like Twitter. Go private if you can't handle the eyes.

And once again, Chris never contacted her directly. She never knew ANYTHING he had said. This just shows that Chris is unable to own up to his actions and will do anything he can to avoid taking responsibility, giving backhanded and intermittent apologies instead of the sincere ones that would've stopped all of this to begin with.

- Never for a single millisecond did you contact either of us to apologize. 3rd parties are almost always necessary in drama like this and saying otherwise would be hypocritical.

Oh yeah, here's some extras.

- Inviting two 14 year olds to a group chat and then showing them the porn Chris drew. Good job Rue.

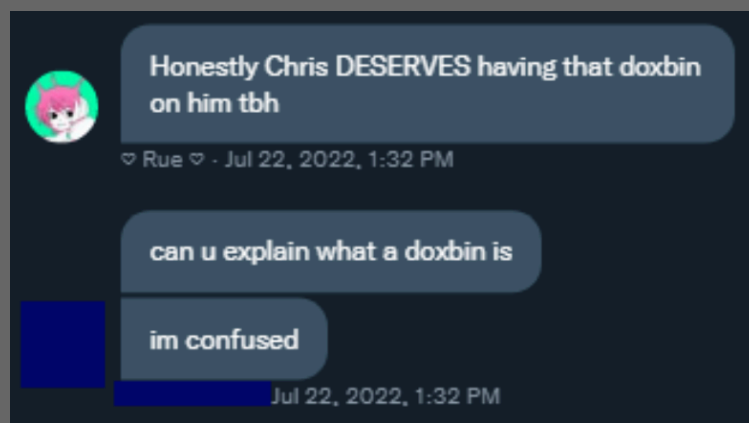

(Person in the groupchat literally admits to being a minor.)

THREATS AND COMMENTS

Now that we've actually seen what she said about them, these are nothing more than jokes. Tell me, how and why would Rue have to resort to cannibalism, or locking Blu and Chris in a compression chamber? Where would she even get access to the materials to carry out these plans? These aren't practical methods of killing them. These are nothing more than JOKES.

- "Erm, actually, making death threats is a joke because how would I carry out those awful threats? Like I don't even have a compression chamber or a gun, like these aren't practical methods to murder someone so they're jokes and should not affect them mentally at all."
- This is such a lopsided childish argument that because you're unable to carry out the threat makes it perfectly fine to come up with the most awful, gore-creative insults and threats without repercussion.

- There's a fun little line from Rue's original video script:

Just don't go on a crusade in the comments about why you think I'm a retarded ape and why my kind shouldn't have made it past the cotton fields

I know that you're black, Rue, but it is still racist to make a cotton field joke in the script of a callout video. Good thing you had someone else in the groupchat edit it out of the script for you. But it still shows your morals regardless.

She had said multiple times that she would not say anything until someone else said something. She never went out of her way to screenshot Chris or Blu's tweets or constantly look at their accounts, which both of them, mostly Blu, are guilty of.

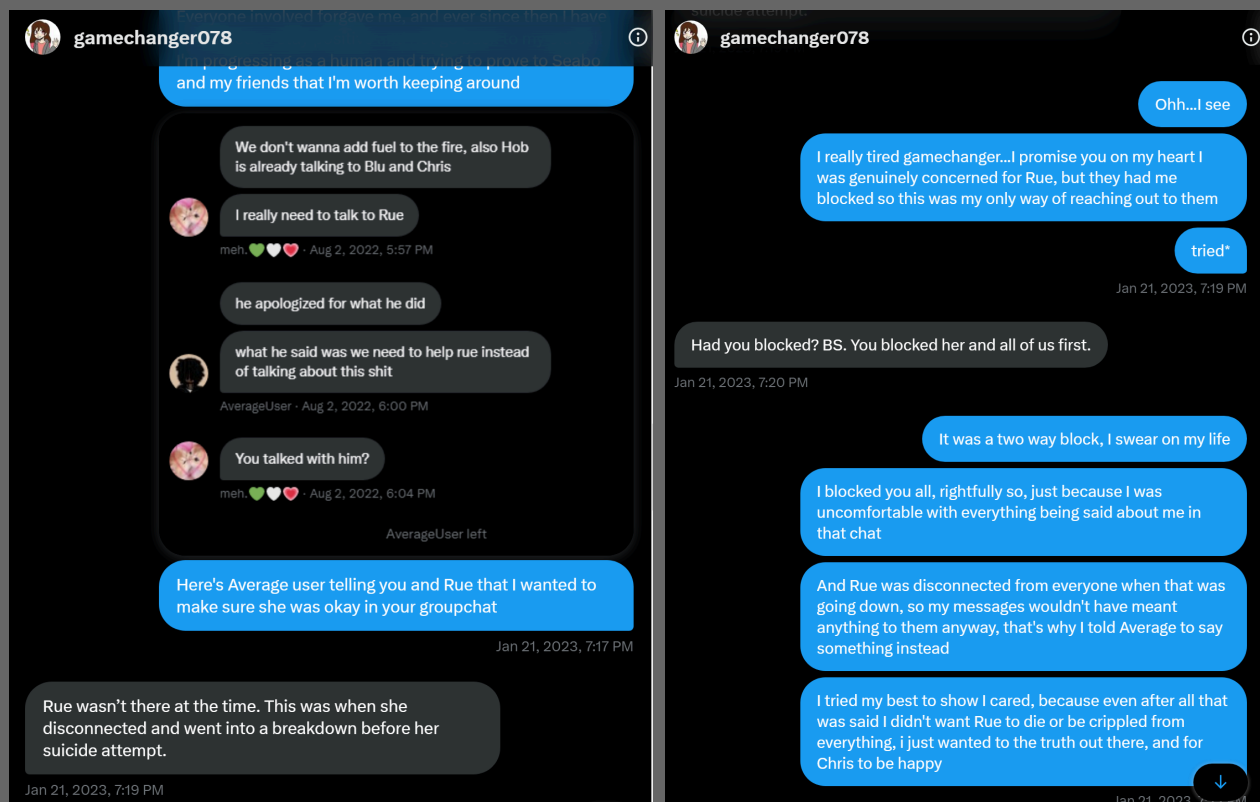

- Not even joking, they literally had someone get their alt into Chris' discord server in order to see his tweets through the server's announcement channel. So when you want to talk about stalking:

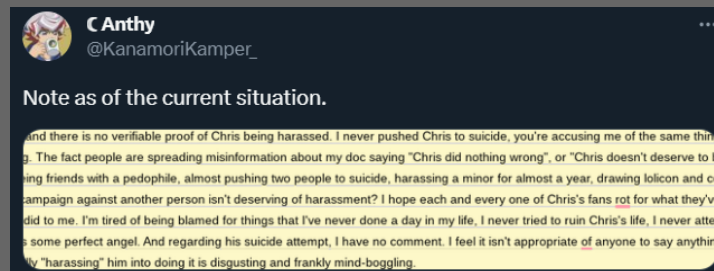

Please explain to me why spying on Chris through his Discord server when you were all blocked is any different than me getting screenshots from your GC from a friend? What you did on Chris' server was ban evasion and privacy intrusion. I think you're extremely guilty of the same things that you accuse me of.

He has helped engender various lies about Rue and TMCHC and to this day he still refuses to apologize for any of it due to his own stubbornness, while also stalking various members of it many months after the situation had concluded.

- Someone in your own group chat told you I apologized and also that when Rue was having a mental breakdown, even when I was making a document against Rue, I still didn't want them to harm themselves. I told AverageUser that instead of telling me to kill myself in my dms, they should instead go and comfort Rue. And here's a screenshot of that, and also me telling that directly to Gamechanger. Rue had me blocked, and I had them blocked.

So in my mind, this came to a resolution, and the issue was taken care of. Please explain how I was wrong for this assumption.

I never harassed chris and there is no verifiable proof of Chris being harassed. I never pushed Chris to suicide, you're accusing me of the same thing that he did to me and its fucking revolting. The fact people are spreading misinformation about my doc saying "Chris did nothing wrong", or "Chris doesn't deserve to be attacked" are equally as revolting, too. So being friends with a pedophile, almost pushing two people to suicide, harassing a minor for almost a year, drawing lolicon and covering it up, and starting a vicious harassment campaign against another person isn't deserving of harassment? I hope each and every one of Chris's fans rot for what they've done and attempting to accuse me of what he did to me. I'm tired of being blamed for things that I've never done a day in my life, I never tried to ruin Chris's life, I never attempted that EVER. Stop acting like Chris is some perfect angel. And regarding his suicide attempt, I have no comment. I feel it isn't appropriate of anyone to say anything. But to twist his suicide attempt into me allegedly "harassing" him into doing it is disgusting and frankly mind-boggling.

- So now it's pushing two people to suicide? Rue and Gamechanger are the reason this started in the first place. Also please tell us how exposing you is a "vicious harassment campaign", when you gathering 13 other people to attack Chris isn't. What is your definition of harassment and why are you so adamant that despite Chris never interacting with you, he harassed you?

Here are the types of harassment since you refuse to elaborate and instead base all of your claims off of words with no proof.

- Physical Harassment: Chris has never met you, you both live in different states
- Personal Harassment: Chris has never bullied you, and neither have I. We have both been professional in out-ting your group chat and everything you've done to incite community outrage towards Chris.
- Verbal Abuse / Psychological Harassment: We have never trivialized your situation, made fun of your self harm attempts, verbally harassed you personally, fat/body shamed you (you did this to Chris in the groupchat). You said you didn't care about his mental health as well as wishing violence and pain towards him in private.

THE SECOND GROUP CHAT

Ah here we go. So here is Rue's tweet about their suicidal thoughts (now deleted). As you can see it was made on August 2nd, keep that in mind.

The situation ultimately ended with Rue not ending her life but being severely traumatized from the whole ordeal. Chris (or Blu) never apologized to her until 3 months later (which will be touched on in the next part).

On the very same day, not 3 months later like they say, I told them to go talk to Rue, which was my way of saying Rue's physical health was more important to me than arguing with the people from their group chat that came to my dms. They admit that the reason they hate us is because we were right the entire time about their behavior. I don't want to deeply reflect on the meaning behind all of this, because Rue was in a dark place at the time of tweeting this, and I feel like dissecting something someone said in an extremely vulnerable state of mind isn't the right thing to do. But regardless, it still stands that I feel like deep down Rue knows there is a vacuum in which this whole controversy doesn't actually matter to people who were in the groupchat and isn't going to change anyone's narrative. We will continue hating each other and no progress will ever be made on this front.

- More context from the second group chat of them saying the doc creation was valid, as well as literally admitting Rue is hypocritical.

 So he is justified to make a document about someone and give them a mental breakdown instead of apologizing for his mistakes?
gamechanger078 · Aug 2, 2022, 7:00 PM

 He is apologizing and addressing things, that's the only reason why I'm fine with this hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 2, 2022, 7:01 PM

 It's already worse, Rue is somewhere we have no details of 🔥100 F!Leo Hater100🔥 · Aug 2, 2022, 7:01 PM

 I can't say much else or else I could put this all at risk
hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 2, 2022, 7:01 PM

 If something bad happens to Rue, then Chris and Blu are the ones responsible
gamechanger078 · Aug 2, 2022, 7:01 PM

 Again. I can't speak on that. But I can say that Blu has been extremely reasonable. Just please trust me guys and don't do anything rash
hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 2, 2022, 7:02 PM

 Honestly, I'm close to making a public post about how Chris and Blu drove Rue into an incredibly bad mental place
gamechanger078 · Aug 2, 2022, 7:06 PM

Do not, please

Personally that's kinda hypocritical because rue was literally angry at Blu saying that rue did the same to Chris, but it would make a lot of the stuff I'm doing for nothing
hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 2, 2022, 7:07 PM

To be fair, while it would stop stuff from continuing on your side, it wouldn't stop stuff on Chris's side

This isn't about harassment rue

Look I ain't blaming you for anything

But Chris feels like he needs to defend himself, and to be honest I don't blame him

That's about all I have to say about it tbh. It's just how it is Yeah I get that.

It is a mess, I get it.
hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 3, 2022, 5:54 PM

It's going to be hard for you after the doc is released, at least for a bit, but it's not going to be as bad as it would've been if they hadn't agreed to talk to me

You'll still be held accountable, but I've told them that it isn't a good idea to villainize you or blame you too much for what's happened

Because well, it just isn't

Can you tell how insanely confusing their narrative is? One minute, they all want us dead, then the moment Rue isn't directly involved in the narrative, everyone in the groupchat has a change of heart and wants her to be held accountable or to entirely drop from the situation.

More group chat screenshots for context:

Hobqueer and Gamechanger have always been in disagreement about the purpose of the group chat. Hob even agrees that Gamechanger is the instigator despite Rue telling them to stop. (shown above)

yes, we respectfully worked together to try to resolve this BECAUSE THAT'S WHAT MATURE PEOPLE DO that isn't some fucking petty drama, it involved actual crimes rue fucking told you guys to let it go, and yet you still keep pushing yes, there were some parts of the the doc that were still scuffed when it came out. that was not due to chris WANTING to paint rue in a bad light that was due to the fact that we didn't have TIME to fully make a final pass because by the time chris finished writing it, the WDY 5th anniversary was about to happen, and I can understand why he'd want it out it was MUCH BETTER than it was initially he wasn't even going to censor you fuckers.

you have ZERO stake in any of this

hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 8, 2022, 6:48 AM

So you were okay with Chris lying about Anthem again, painting Rue as a manipulator, and not addressing the whole suicide thing?

gamechanger078 · Aug 8, 2022, 6:49 AM i do not fucking know enough about the anthem situation to comment or advise chris on it and from the messages that chris showed me, the thing that anthem told us about the blackmail was completely false

he LEGALLY gave them the rights

BEFOREHAND

the message CLEARLY said that as for the manipulation thing, i fucking told chris to tone that shit down but he would not budge on "holding rue accountable" and to be honest? i don't blame him some of the stuff said in the chat was truly bad

Here's Hob talking about how we respectfully worked together with Chris to make the document, and how Chris never intended to paint Rue as a monster. We simply were rushed for a response and had to put together something coherent that included facts with proof.

I even took the extra step of censoring everyone else that was involved in the groupchat, until Rue came after us again. Now I'm done with censorship, you can see their names, I don't care anymore. I originally censored all people involved in the groupchat besides Rue, but now I think it's safer not doing so.

i realize that. rue realizes that the only people that DON'T REALIZE THAT are you guys

hobqueer(tf2 arc) · Aug 8, 2022, 6:51 AM

I realize it completely. I even tried to stop it but nobody listened

gamechanger078 · Aug 8, 2022, 6:52 AM when.

when people said those things, no one tried to stop anyone

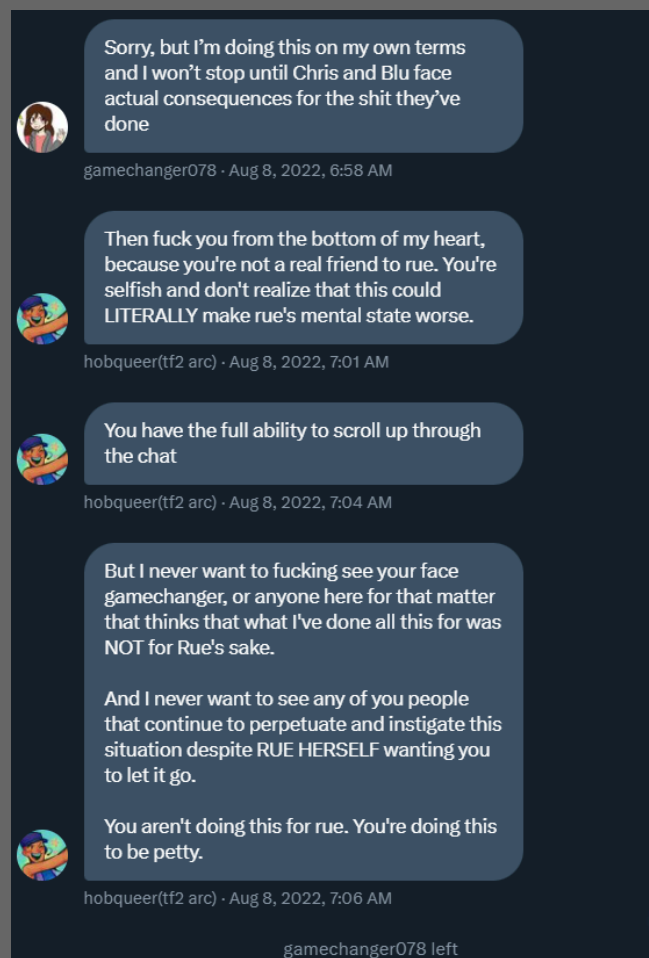

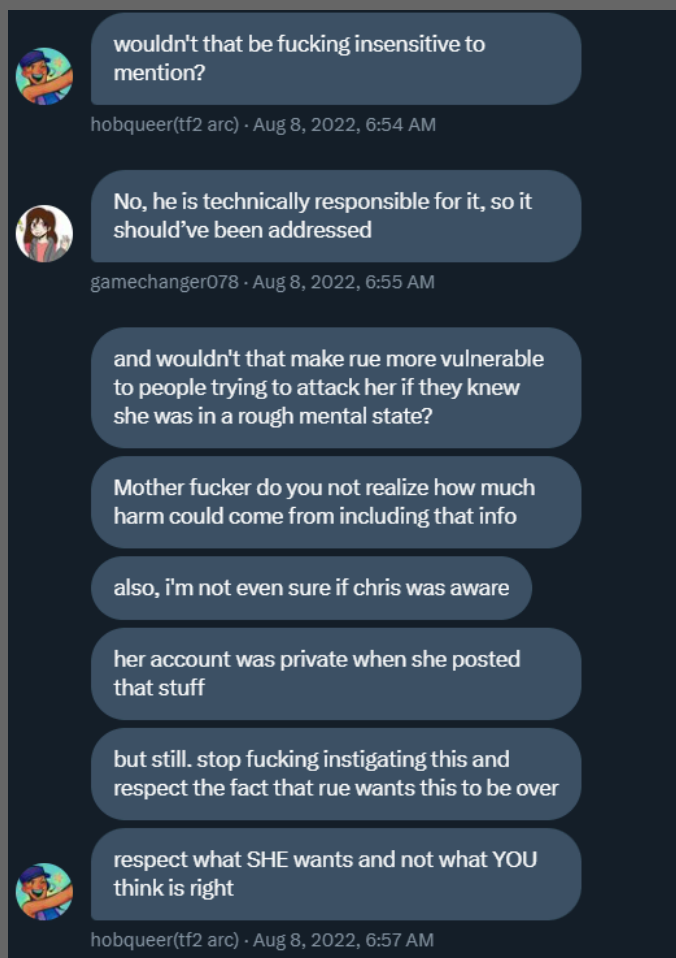

i've seen the chat and the context before and after those moments

you are NOT fucking innocent here. i'm not innocent here i should've pushed back more and realized what was going on here earlier, but i didn't because i never thought anything would come from it as for rue's suicidal stuff, why the FUCK would chris mention that?

Hobqueer was the only person other than Jurk who was respectful, looked at facts, was patient, helped us with our document while also helping Rue, and being respectful to both parties. Do not harass them. But on the other hand, the fact that they said all of this, when they were the one that reached out to me first.

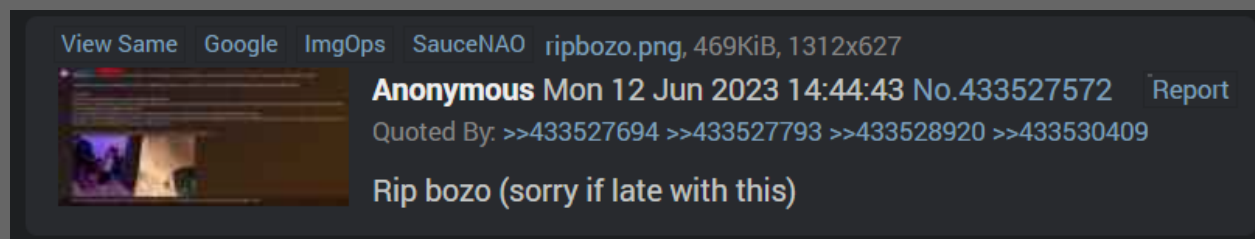

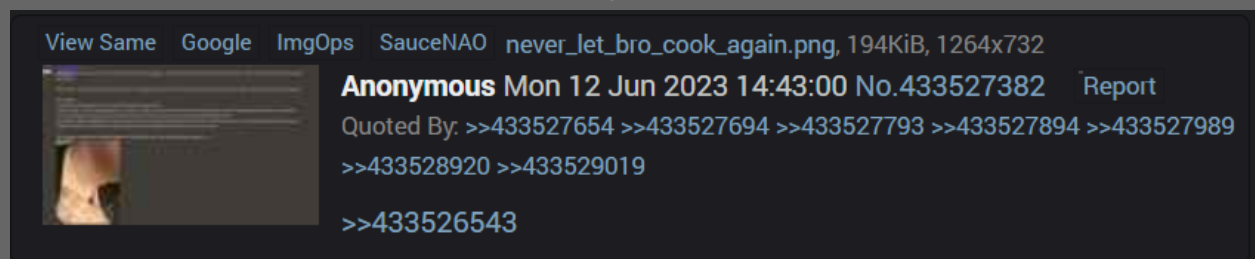

But after this, he'd contacted Hobqueer once again, for some odd reason thinking that she owes him something because of the fact she reached out in an attempt to stop his friends with 50 THOUSAND followers from targeting a person with barely a thousand themselves.

"Thinking that she owes him something" I never said Hob owes me anything, I was respectful in asking why they would say stuff like what I showed above, and then they turn around and act as if me spying on their GC was worse than the shit that happened in there.

4CHAN LEAKS

Chris's announcement was not posted on the TMC Discord server. It was posted in the Reincarnated Dev Server and the vs Tabi Dev Server and then it was leaked on 4chan, then later posted on twitter by @StampsSuper.

While I think exposing this kind of content to minors isn't okay (even outside of putting a tw warning) I think that when someone is in a mental state such as this, they are subconsciously calling out for help. People in the dev server were asking for an update on where he was and what was going on. A cry for help in a sense, and although that does not excuse it, but to be fair, Rue tweeted about their attempt to their followers who also consist of many minors, and talked about it in the group chat. They are valid for both. Can we all agree that these things shouldn't be taken lightly or made fun of? Neither Rue nor Chris should be joked about.

As a complete sidenote, and even though I have no say in this, from an opinion standpoint and an outsider's perspective, leaking Reincarnated doesn't not effect just Chris.

C0rruptzie, Kiwiburd, Taeyai, Axion, Noer, Cerbera, Haylow, Phypsi, Dusterbuster, AtomicPunk, Gabe, Volume, Mamon, Miyno, Splatter, Karan, Ezhalt, Kyle, Case, Fore, Cyberghost, Kip, Tofu, Sulayr, Trikunari, Mack, Alex, Cougar, and everyone else involved with the hundreds of hours it most likely took putting the mod together just lost any form of surprise they had along with freedom of expression.

RUE'S NSFW ALT

So, someone who I did not expect to enter my dms, and someone who I had never talked to before (who will remain anonymous), messaged me quite a few screenshots taken from Rue's Alt and requested I post them.

Are you ready for some irony?

Furthermore, Chris calling him out for drawing NSFW art of underage characters is a bit odd, since he himself did that multiple times, and at one point acknowledged the fact a character was underage. Pot calling the kettle black much?

Here's a bunch of screenshots from Rue's 18+ alt of them retweeting Sonic, Tails, Amy, and My Hero Academia porn.

The very same thing they continually attack Chris for producing.

Anthys Sin Bin 🔒 @BosipsFartbox · Jan 25

I genuinely think I need to get fucking help. I keep on consuming content with rape and such upsetting subjects and I keep on finding it sexually arousing. I don't want to be this way, I hate it. I don't want to be desensitized or find it hot, I want to be normal, be disgusted.

I'm not one to judge trauma coping, but you need therapy Rue. Seriously. These kinds of thoughts are not okay, and I hope showing people will finally make you become accountable. If you want to dive into Chris' deep personal life, I will do the same to you.

Anthys Sin Bin 🔒 @BosipsFartbox · Jun 12

i hope chris fucking succeeds next time. dick.

Ah yeah, the classic "*you should kill yourself NOW". Hypocrite.

CONCLUSION

- One of the most prominent criticisms people have been throwing at me is that because I have been a controversial person in the past, that my opinion towards other controversial people doesn't matter.
- It's common knowledge by this point that I was responsible for the Retrodubs document, I helped with the original Chris document and I've been involved in many many more.
- Just because I fucked up in my past, doesn't mean I can't still deviate from being completely silent on the awful things I see in the community.
- You may call that hypocrisy, but these issues won't solve themselves, and so I'm trying to, in a way, make up for my actions in the past by solving current day problems. I saw some people saying I did it out of pettiness? So should I have let those awful people just keep going?
- I don't just contribute, I try to be verbally open and talk to people who have done shitty things in order to hopefully direct them on the same path that I went down through therapy, counseling, self-improvement, and owning up.

My whole point of allowing other people to front for the information I find is that the moment people find out I'm involved, somehow legitimacy is lost. If one fucked up person outs another fucked up person, that's still an outing.

Finally, to Chris (and Jake, I suppose) since I know the both of you are potentially reading this right now: I don't want your apology. I refuse to accept it. You have had multiple chances to Okay, good.

You're not getting an apology in the future. As a result of this entire controversy, you did nothing but blame your self-harm on Chris, project your unhinged emotions, lie, involve 13-15 other people in the mess you created, and bring Chris almost to suicide. If you know so much about what that's like, you shouldn't have done the same to Chris. I hope you get help.

- There is no TLDR, if you scrolled all the way down here, I appreciate your patience.
- Chris was not directly responsible for anything said in this document. I (Bluskys) was the sole writer for this document, and the person responsible for the screenshots of the groupchat, and the person responsible for the screenshots of Rue's private account will both stay anonymous.