

This document is best viewed on desktop, there is a high chance images will be out of order on mobile.

NOTE: For posterity, please do NOT harass anyone mentioned in this document, because it does not make you seem intelligent and only makes the situation worse. No matter how much you hate a person, that just isn't it. No one who helped write this document condones the harassment of anyone mentioned, no matter what the circumstance is. Thank you.

SUMMARY: TheMaskedChris, creator of Starlight Mayhem, Vs Eteled, and many other art-related projects, is a habitual liar who was a direct cause of an individual's suicide attempt, along with being friends with BluskysTV (A known sex pest, alleged pedophile, antisemite, and stalker) and he is fully aware of what he has done. He has intentionally slandered the person who almost committed suicide because of him and continues to chronically lie about details of the situation, (including, but not limited to: lying about being doxxed, lying about being harassed, and other details) along with his involvement in the situation overall, while additionally slandering a minor (AnthemOverload) for nearly a year over him wanting his music taken down from Chris' YouTube channel.

This callout was written to alert people of Chris's abusive tendencies and inability to own up to his own misdeeds. Do not allow him to do this again.

Table of Contents

(Can be accessed through Outline)

- I. Preface / Who is TheMaskedChris?
- II. Chris Learns how Copyright Law Works (The AnthemOverload Drama)
- III. Chris Causes Someone to Almost Commit Suicide (TMCHC Groupchat Situation)
- IV. Chris Causes Someone to Almost Commit Suicide: Extended (Aftermath/Present Day)
- V. Conclusion

I. Preface / Who is TheMaskedChris?

TheMaskedChris, also known as Christian Urdaneta (or Christis Urdanotis, according to his public PayPal), is an artist and YouTuber who is also the creator of multiple popular mods for the indie rhythm game Friday Night Funkin, most notably Starlight Mayhem, along with creating the animatic series for the creepypasta series Wii Deleted You.

He is also a habitual liar who has slandered multiple people, most notably a group of people who had attempted to call him out in the past for his various misdeeds, or more specifically, an individual who goes by the name of Rue (or Anthy), for almost over a year now. Along with having a bit of a tendency to associate himself with known sex pests, and getting his fanbase to harass minors.

Obviously, the fact that this document exists should tell you that what he's done is unacceptable and it's utterly confusing how he hasn't been deplatformed in the past due to his unwillingness to accept responsibility.

This document is being written by a group of people who have been wronged by Chris (and Blu) out of the moral obligation to fill people in due to the number of lies, misinformation, and general confusion surrounding the situation. This document will cover all of Chris's wrongdoings in order of how intense said situations are.

II. Chris Learns how Copyright Law Works (The AnthemOverload Drama)

AnthemOverload was the original composer for the vs. Eteled mod who made all the songs that were in it, along with voicing Eteled himself. Shortly after the mod's release, Anthem was exposed by Chris for various things. Chris has a massive hate boner for Anthem, and has willingly spread misinformation and bullied him. Keep in mind Chris is (and was) 19-20 years old and at the time Anthem was 16, Chris was an adult, blatantly harassing and bullying a minor.

Anthem would make a video responding to the things he was exposed for and apologizing for them, and later went into a 3-4 month hiatus, where he admitted to going to therapy and continuing to do so even after he came back, despite this Chris still tries to complain and say that Anthem has not changed.

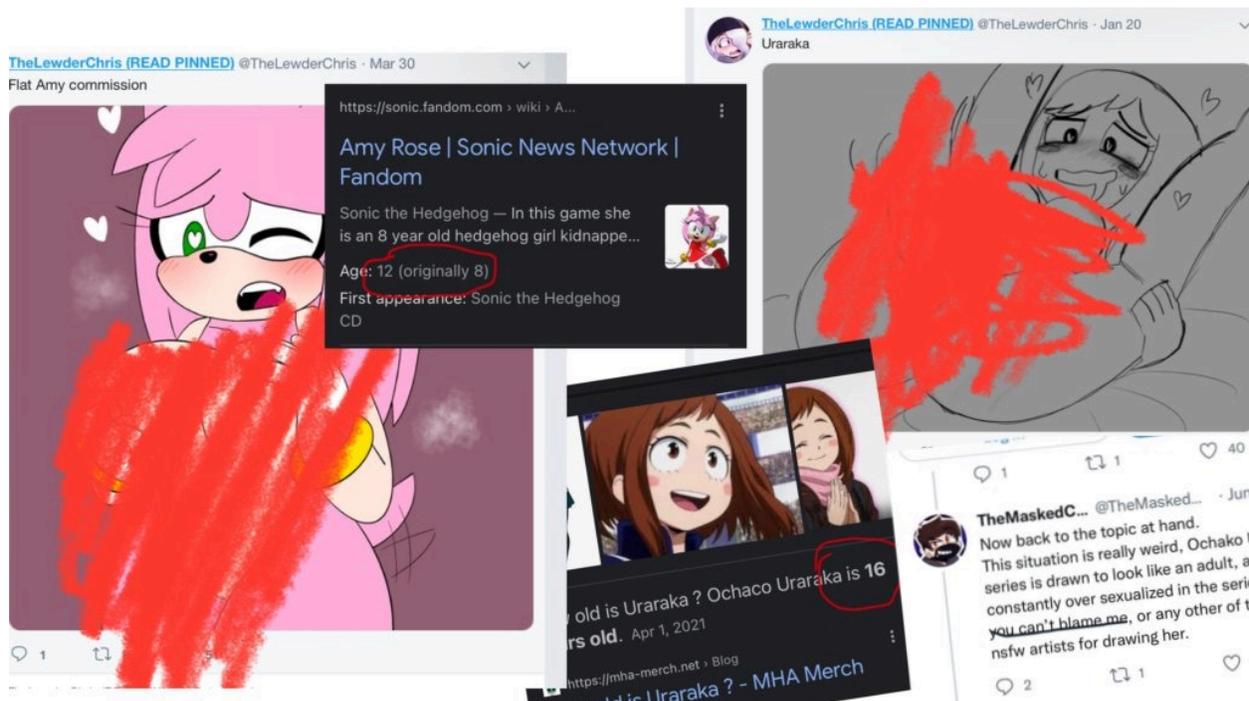

Anthem's response/apology video can be found here: My response - YouTube

To tell a long story short, Chris alleged that Anthem did the following.

- Saying slurs such as the N, R, and F words.
- Grooming
- Bullying people
- Ableism
- Making NSFW art of underage characters (Which Chris is guilty of as well, but take that as you will.)
- Misgendering a non-binary person
- Stealing music
- And Cheating on their partner.

The issue with this being that the simple fact of the matter is Anthem had not done a majority of these things. However, Anthem does not deny using slurs when he was younger, which he has since apologized for. The alleged NSFW art of a minor Anthem had made was created when Anthem was younger, and it should be kept in mind that the character was originally an adult and as time passed the age of said character kept on lowering and lowering. This could not have possibly been his fault.

Furthermore, Chris calling him out for drawing NSFW art of underage characters is a bit odd, since he himself did that multiple times, and at one point acknowledged the fact a character was underage. Pot calling the kettle black much?

Note: His tweets about Ururaka are now deleted and can't be found when advance searched from his account. Take that as you will.

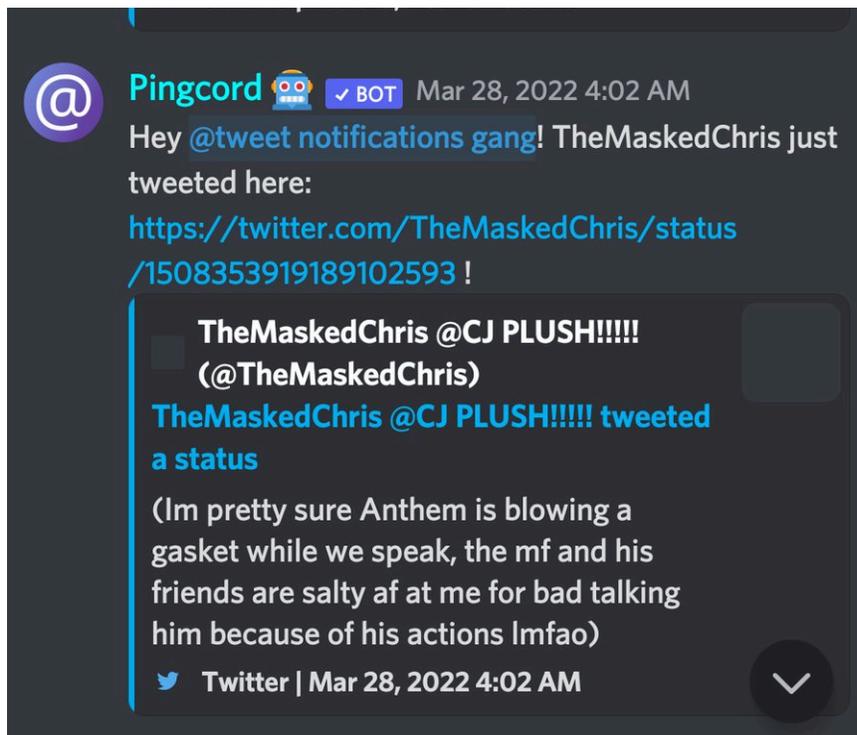

But anyways, Anthem has confirmed that he did ask for NSFW pictures from others, however he has openly apologized for it 3 times on his previous live streams, yet Chris continues to openly claim that he hasn't shown any signs of changing. Chris tries to frame this as Anthem being a "groomer", which is frankly odd, considering there's no proof that points to him being one and his actions do not follow the definition of grooming.

Another claim made that is true is Anthem cheating on his partner, which Anthem confirms HIMSELF in his video debunking Chris's claims. Take this as you will, not commenting on that because I feel its none of my business, but keep in mind that Anthem apologized to them, and their partner forgave him. And to my understanding, they are still together.

Video debunking Chris's claims - The REAL reason the Vs. eteled OST is gone.

Following Anthem getting "exposed", he was actively getting harassed and sent death threats. Chris knew about this, and didn't even tell people to stop. In fact, he was actively encouraging people to harass Anthem, constantly making tweets about Anthem and spreading hate towards him further.

Keep in mind most of these tweets are deleted. What reason would Chris have to delete these unless he wanted to hide something?

Pingcord BOT Mar 28, 2022 9:30 AM

Hey @tweet_notifications gang! TheMaskedChris just tweeted here:

<https://twitter.com/TheMaskedChris/status/1508436311597674500> !

TheMaskedChris @CJ PLUSH!!!!
 (@TheMaskedChris)
TheMaskedChris @CJ PLUSH!!!! tweeted a status

@Nebby__ Now how about you answer my other question?
 The thing about proving he has changed? That would be very vital information to your argument.

Twitter | Mar 28, 2022 9:30 AM

Pingcord BOT Mar 28, 2022 9:41 AM

Hey @tweet_notifications gang! TheMaskedChris just tweeted here:

<https://twitter.com/TheMaskedChris/status/1508438999567724550> !

TheMaskedChris @CJ PLUSH!!!!
 (@TheMaskedChris)
TheMaskedChris @CJ PLUSH!!!! tweeted a status

@Nebby__ Arcy is pretty much the only person I can call a friend in that wretched vr chat community, so dont go dare sending them any kinda mean words ya know? They don't deserve it.

Twitter | Mar 28, 2022 9:40 AM

Pingcord BOT Mar 28, 2022 9:41 AM

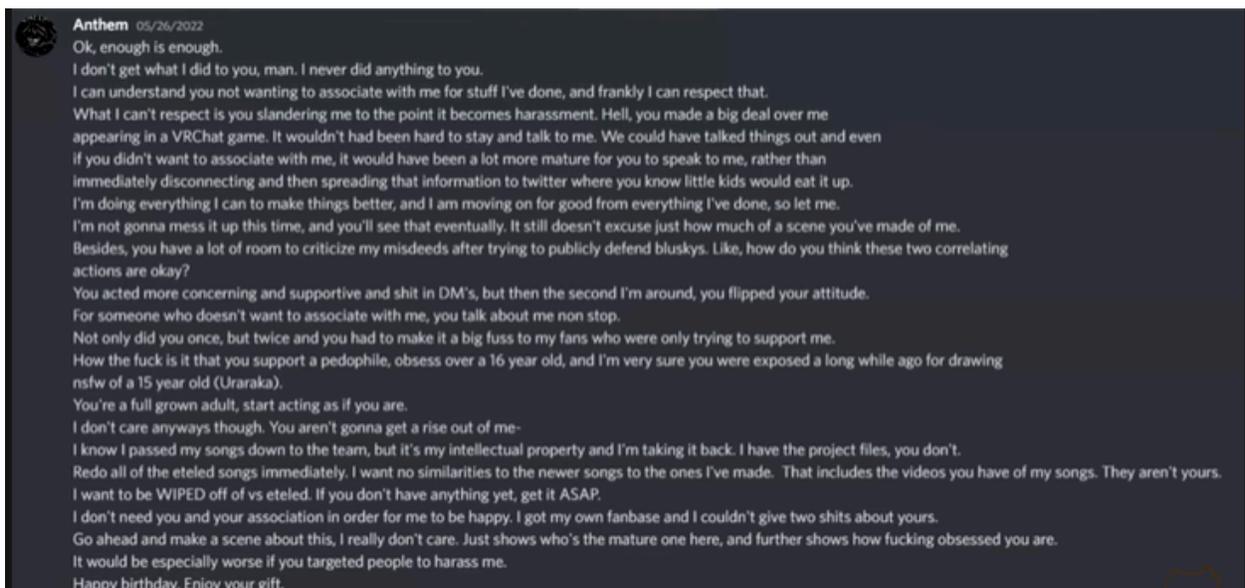

You do not have permission to send messages in this channel.

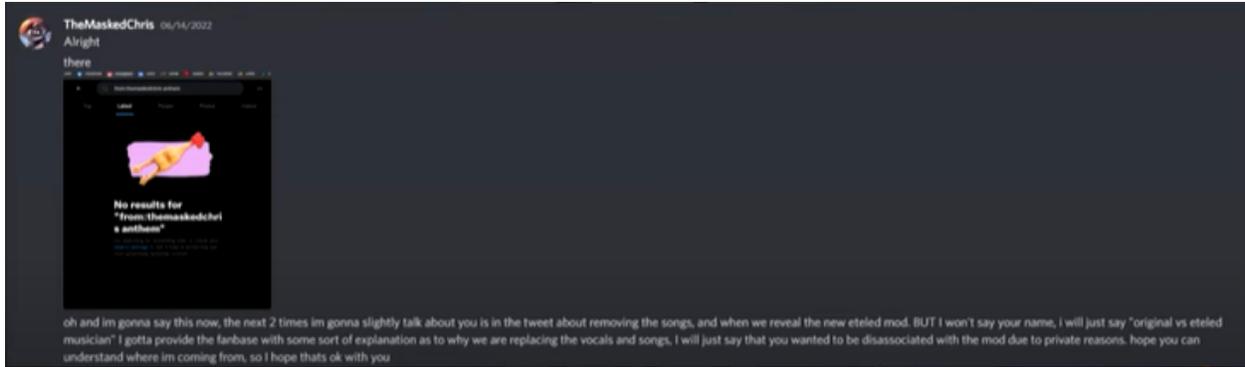

Chris also tried to say that Anthem had only left for 2 months when in truth Anthem left to improve himself for 4 months. Even then, Chris tried to say Anthem had not changed. It is very ironic how Chris says that people aren't always going to be bad and that they can change, but when it comes to Anthem, he changes his mind. Keep this in mind for the following section.

The drama between them started up again in 2022 when Anthem sent out 2 copyright strikes towards Chris's channel, wanting the music he made for the Vs. Eteled mod to be taken down. Chris, of course (and against Anthem's wishes), made a video talking about this, while also bringing up Anthem's previous controversies and even making claims that Anthem had blackmailed him into removing the songs, which is untrue. Anthem would make a response video where he once again apologizes for the situations that were true and debunks the ones that weren't true.

He would also explain how Chris' blackmail claim wasn't true by showing screenshots of his chats with Chris in the video, with one of them showing that Anthem had stated that money was optional in the terms he gave Chris, debunking Chris' claim that he was forced to give Anthem $500 and showing that Chris had given the money on his own accord, which proves that this wasn't and never has been blackmail.

In short, Chris was never blackmailed, he gave the money to Anthem by himself without being asked, completely on his own accord. Keep in mind Anthem never demanded the money, all he asked was to have his music taken down and that'd be all. To have been blackmailed, Anthem would have had to be holding something over Chris's head to have made him give Anthem the money.

Chris would also make the claim that Anthem had given him the complete rights to the songs, when in reality, he only gave Chris the rights to upload them onto his channel, a right that anyone who downloads the mod has. When the situation started, Anthem, as the rightful owner of the songs, decided to revoke that right from Chris because he didn't want Chris to use his songs anymore.

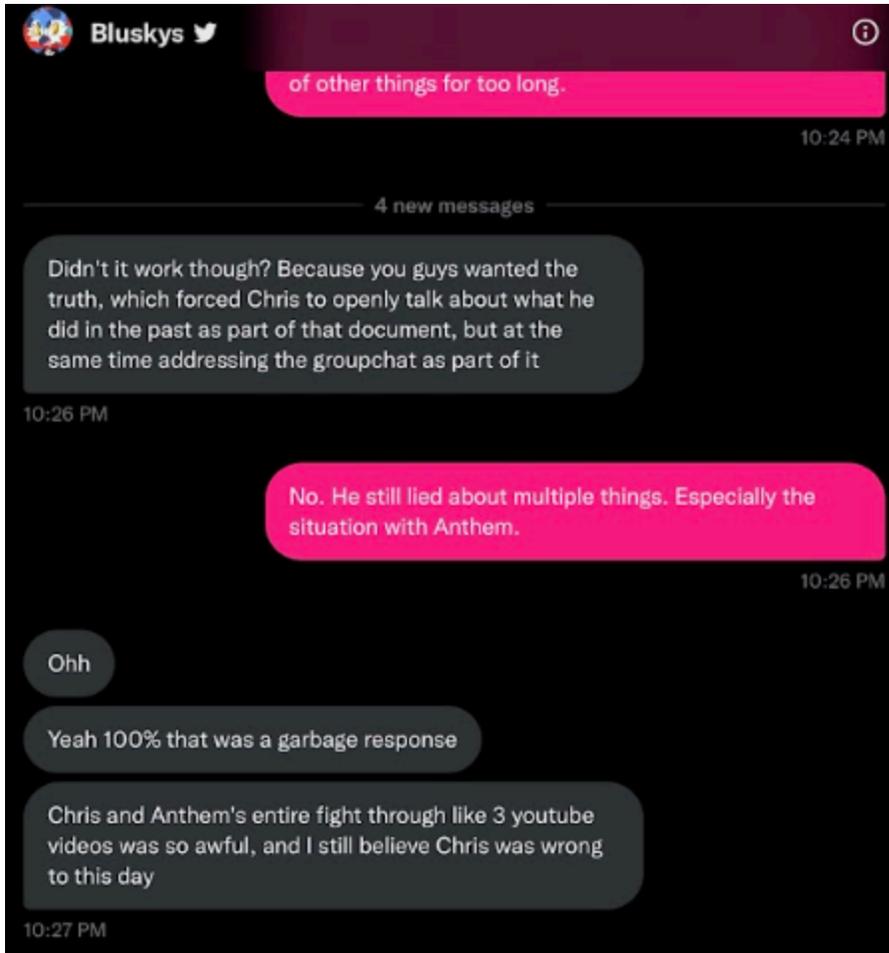

Please keep in mind that Chris does not own the music. Anthem and Chris never signed a legally binding contract that stated that Chris was the rightful owner (Additionally, Anthem is/was a minor and couldn't have possibly signed one). The only permission Anthem gave Chris was the permission to upload his work to his own channel. Anthem is allowed to take down his music if and when he wants, which is completely legal, and for Chris to take issue with this is shameful. Even if Anthem was the horrible person Chris said he was, he still has the right to ask Chris to take down the music, because it's his and he didn't put any effort or work into making it.

Anthem's video on the situation can be found here: The REAL reason the Vs. eteled OST is gone. - YouTube

This situation would remain mostly unresolved and eventually go quiet until the next situation, in which Chris would heavily overexaggerate Anthem's involvement in.

But even so, his interactions with Anthem were very telling of his behavior and how far he was willing to go to slander a minor. During this time, Anthem was 16. He wasn't some irredeemable adult man living in his mothers basement, he was by all means a kid. We can all remember being a kid, hell, a teenager. We've all done dumb things during those times. You're not completely irredeemable at that age unless you've done something to warrant that like murder. Chris's behavior throughout this situation is going to be very telling during the next one.

Also, it should be mentioned that even Blu thinks that Chris was wrong during this situation.

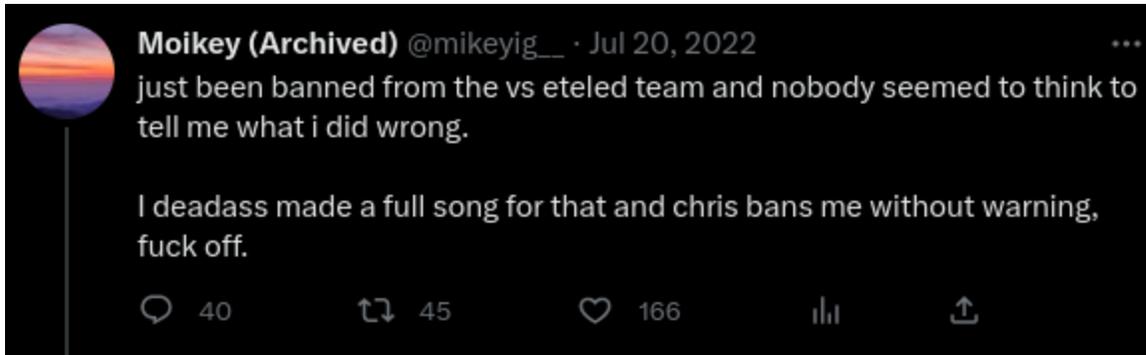

III. Chris Causes Someone to almost Commit Suicide (TMCHC Groupchat Situation)

Disclaimer: Please keep in mind that there are limited archives/screenshots of the group chat mentioned in this, as it has been deleted for almost a year, so some statements will be without proof and will purely be based on testaments and the screenshots that still do survive.

The TMCHC (TheMaskedChris Haterade Chuggers) Group chat was a group chat created by a group of people who intended to make a video calling out Chris for his various wrongdoings after he was called out by a user named MoickeyMusic for kicking them off of his FNF mod team for old drama that was resolved about a year prior.

The situation initially started on July 20th of 2022, when Moickey made a post about getting banned from the Vs. Eteled remake team/Discord server without a word from Chris.

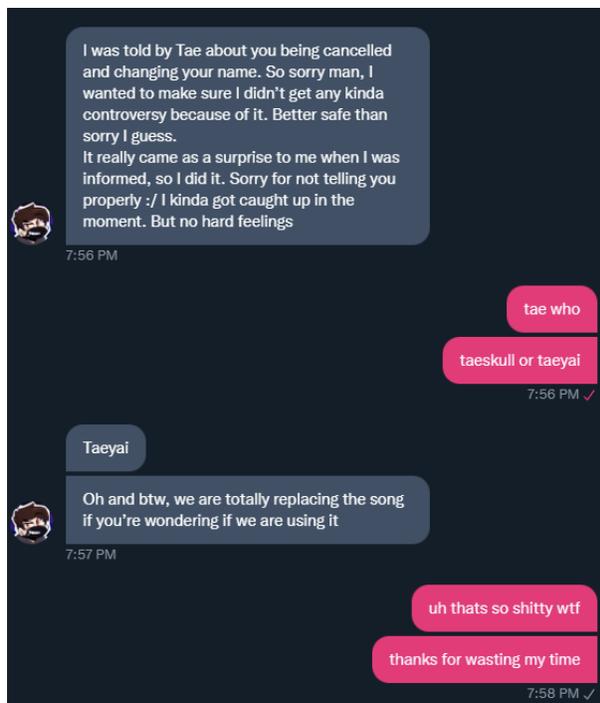

[Transcript]

Moikey: Just Been Banned from the vs eteled team and nobody seemed to think to tell me what I did wrong.

I deadass made a full song for that and Chris bans me without warning. Fuck off.

-

Only an hour later, Chris reached out to speak to Moickey, claiming that he didn't want to get into any controversy over what Moickey had allegedly done.

Chris: I was told by Tae about you being canceled and changing your name. So sorry man, I wanted to make sure I didn't get any kinda controversy because of it. Better safe than sorry I guess. It really came as a surprise to me when I was informed, so I did it. Sorry for not telling you properly :/ I kinda got caught up in the moment. But no hard feelings.

Moikey: Tae who? Taeskull or Taeyai?

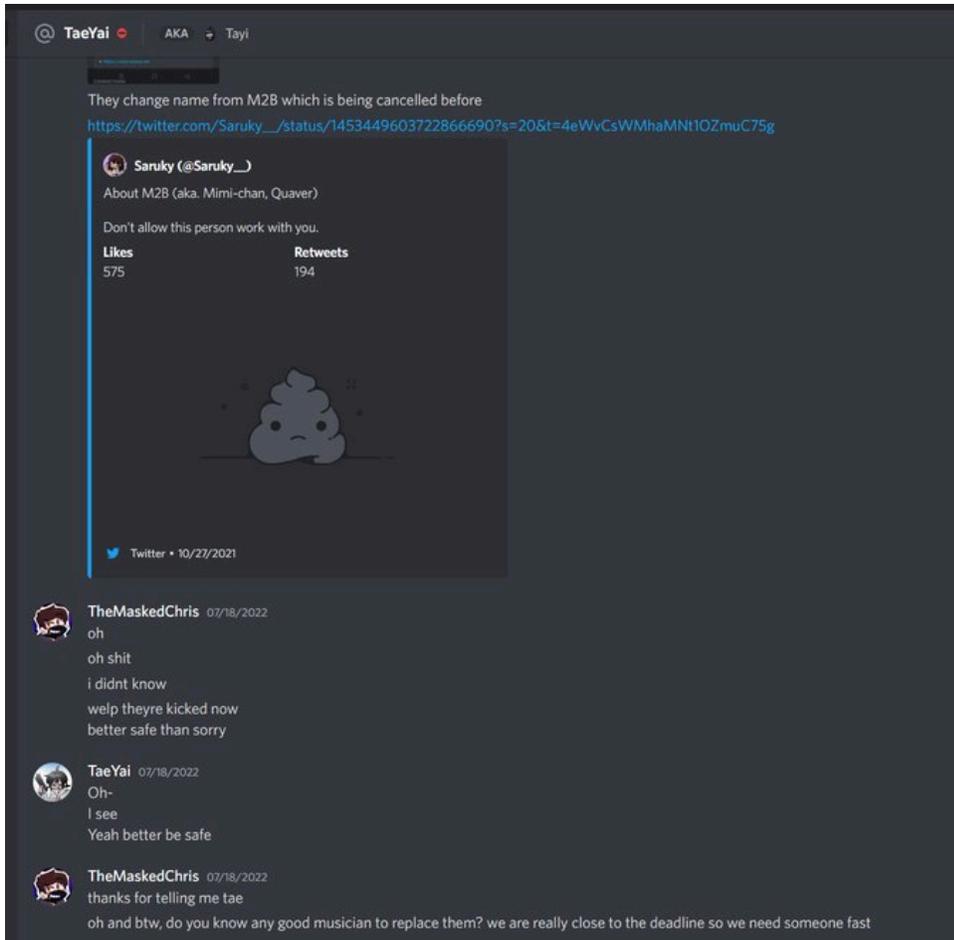

Chris: Taeyai. Oh and btw, we are totally replacing the song if you're wondering if we are using it.

Moikey: Uh, that's so shitty wtf. Thanks for wasting my time.

The thing Moickey was “canceled” for was for doxxing someone after they doxxed him, along with it being alleged that he was only trans for the purpose of taking advantage of transgender lesbians (The second one was confirmed to be false). Keep in mind, this occurred in early 2021, over a year before this situation occurred.

The issue with this is that when Chris was initially told what happened, he did not bother to ask Moickey for his side of the story, instead opting to take Taeyai’s word and not do any further research and immediately asked Taeyai for a suggestion on a new musician to hire for the mod.

[Transcript]

Taeyai: They change(d) [their] name from M2B which is being canceled before

Chris: oh
Oh shit
I didn't know
Welp they're kicked now
Better safe than sorry

Taeyai: Oh-
I see
Yeah better be safe

Chris: Thanks for telling me Tae
Oh and btw, do you know any good musician to replace them? We are really close to the deadline and we need someone fast

The following day, Moickey was compensated for his work after negotiating with Chris on payment. But this failed to stop people from looking deeper into every wrongdoing Chris had done.

The TMCHC group chat was created a day after the situation with Moickey had occurred. The main purpose of the group chat was to expose Chris for his various wrongdoings in a Youtube video, Moickey's post being the catalyst.

The chat existed for about 3 weeks, being made by an individual named Rue, and did successfully make the video, which can still be viewed today, although having small bits of misinformation here and there.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mqc4XMu8_Mc&t=29s

Note: I kind of hate this video as it's simply not well researched in some areas and was made in a rush (you can tell, the voice recordings I did were choppy and the editing is rather sloppy) but it doesn't change the fact that it set the groundwork for as to why Chris is a scummy person. So take this as you will.

Aside from some minor issues regarding a copyright strike given to the video by an ex-member of the group, it remained up for about a week before Blu reached out to one of the people who were in the group chat, Ivy.

Now is a good time to mention BluskysTV, Blu, or Jake. Blu is (or was) Chris's friend who vehemently defended Chris during this situation, along with helping him spread the lie that Chris was doxxed by TMCHC, and continues to prove that he is a horrible person to this day.

If you're familiar with the Friday Night Funkin communities controversies, I'm sure you're aware that Blu was friends with AmorAltra, who was exposed on (of all days) Christmas Day after being outed for drawing porn of both Blu and another minor (the person who outed him for this was later found to be Chris, who remained anonymous and, based on the circumstances at the time, may have done it out of spite). But not only a few months later, Blu was outed for being sexually toxic, a manipulator, along with claims of pedophilia and being in the possession of sexually explicit images of children. The person who exposed him was Seabo, who had previously worked with both Blu and Amor, and currently works with Chris. The initial doc on Blu can be found here:

Seabo 🦋 on Twitter: "Please read this and retweet it for visibility: A document concerning Bluskys https://t.co/Rpq78hMS13" / Twitter

Archive: 📄 Copy of Concerning Bluskys

But if you're looking for a quick summary, the document alleges/proves the following, so take these as you will.

- Blu has been in drama before in this community for consenting to be drawn in NSFW art with a minor and allowing minors to follow his NSFW alt
- He apologized for these things but lied in doing so and did not stop his actions
- He has engaged in ERP/Sexting and other sexual activities with minors while he was an adult for at least 2 years
- He has sent and received nudes with minors in the past
- He is well known in multiple communities for being disingenuous, performing actions solely to gain clout, and deflecting/downplaying his actions when people deem them problematic.
- He portrays himself as a completely different character online compared to what he actually is
- He previously requested CP from a 15 year old on his NSFW alt
- He interacted with minor NSFW accounts on his main alt
- He enjoyed Loli porn as of nine months ago

This is copied and pasted directly from the document, exactly in Seabo's words.

Following the callout, Blu was rightfully lambasted for his absolutely atrocious actions, which resulted in him leaving to, for some reason, consult his college counselor for help regarding his mental health. Why did he do this instead of getting an actual therapist? No idea, and if you ask Blu he'll get defensive about it. Blu left for around 3 weeks, only to return. Rightfully, people were skeptical about this.

Chris knows what Blu did, and alleges that he has changed (Apparently Chris was in contact with him during the time he was supposed to be off of the internet, take that as you will) despite showing no improvement even in the current day, going as far as to call him a king. Keep in mind Chris silently deleted this tweet after being quote tweeted to death, but not before having it screenshotted. The Internet Archive exists for a reason, Chris.

hehehe mask funnnnyyy @T... · 48m :
Replying to @TheMaskedChris

I know i will get heat for this, but i dont care.

blu is my friend. Im not gonna ditch a friend just like that. not one who recognizes that he did wrong, and is going every step of the mile to improve and fix himself up.

he is trying to improve and ill be here for him.

1 2 37

hehehe mask funnnnyyy @T... · 48m :

and thats what friends are for, people can only be better through the support of their friends.

you guys might see him only as another name on the internet, but i see him as somebody who ive spent a long of time with, somebody i consider a close friend.

1 1 31

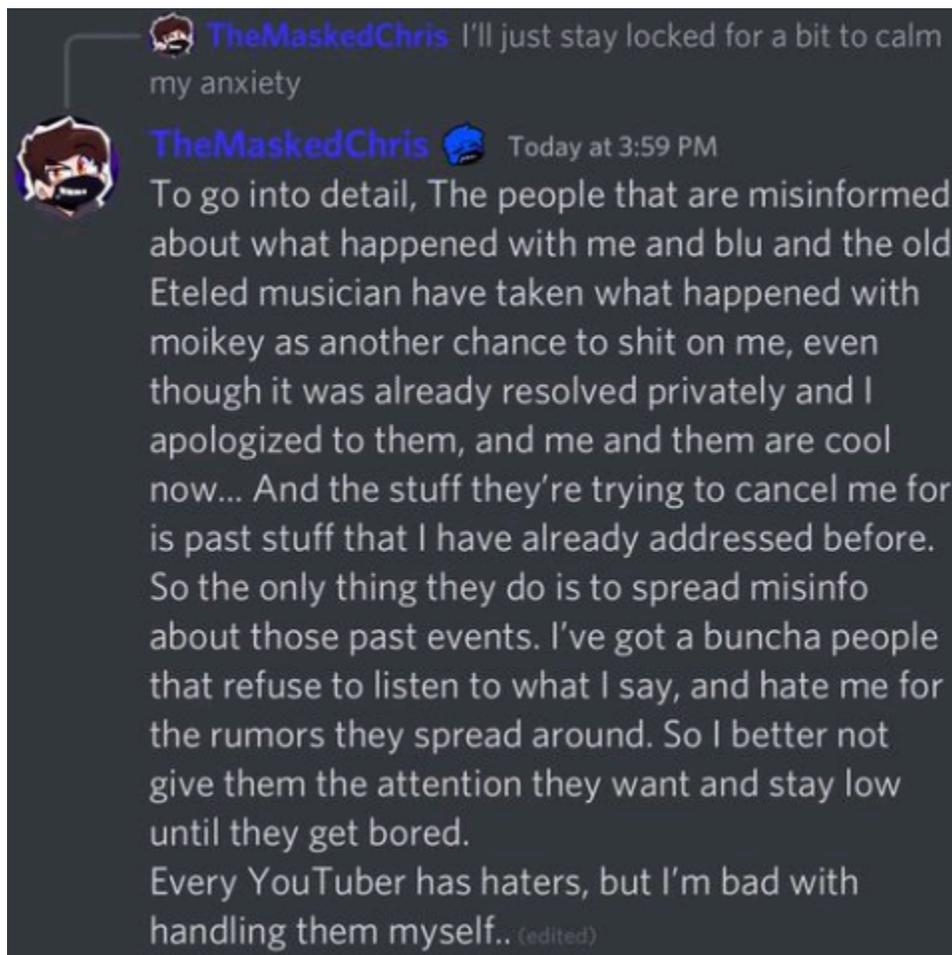

hehehe mask funnnnyyy @T... · 48m :

im not asking you to forgive him, im just asking you to read through the entirety of the document. and see how hard hes trying. But please either respond rationally or not respond at all to this apology of his.

This directly contradicts statements Chris has made in the past relating to people who've done things that are arguably less bad than the absolute crimes against both God and humanity Blu has committed, specifically concerning AnthemOverload (who is spoken about more in the previous section), where he alleges Anthem never changed despite being gone for 3-4 months, almost 8-12 weeks MORE than Blu, and showing much more improvement than Blu has.

During this whole fiasco, Chris went private and tried to say that people were "misinformed", along with using his anxiety as a way to guilt-trip his fanbase. You're going to see Chris bring up mental health multiple times when he gets himself into trouble, this isn't the first time this has happened and it won't be the last.

Blu is arguably, for lack of a better word, Chris's biggest dickrider. He has defended him multiple times even when he is absolutely, undeniably wrong. He is a hypocrite of immense proportions, always holding other people to standards of behavior that he believes he himself does not have any obligation to follow, and please keep in mind that he has been described by multiple people as a person who only cares about his image and popularity who thinks he can get away with virtually anything (And Chris himself, MONTHS LATER admits that even Blu made him uncomfortable). Not a good sign.

He has helped engender various lies about Rue and TMCHC and to this day he still refuses to apologize for any of it due to his own stubbornness, while also stalking various members of it many months after the situation had concluded.

When Blu originally contacted Ivy, his message to her was extremely condescending and gave off intense holier-than-thou vibes.

From my understanding, Ivy only replied to this message with reaction images and memes, not taking Blu seriously, which resulted in both Chris and Blu going to contact 2 other members of the group chat, Hobqueer, and Jurk.

Additionally, what Blu is referring to when he says “Constantly talking about how you guys want to kill me” Is in reference to messages Rue sent in the groupchat about wanting to kill him, which were ultimately jokes, along with 2 tweets she had made about bringing a gun to his college after his dox had been floating around, which even Rue agrees was bad, and joke or not, she has since apologized for.

Rue apologized for this months ago, but the main point is that even when in bad taste, her messages were ultimately jokes and she had no intention of acting on her words. I hope it is not a hot take to want a pedophile who hurt and manipulated multiple people dead, but in the end, her words were jokes and were a product of her frustration at the fact people in the Friday Night Funkin’ were essentially letting horrible people walk scot-free because they liked to pick and choose based on how much they liked them.

Upon speaking, Chris revealed that he was currently in the process of making a document calling out Rue, and by extension, the TMCHC group chat.

The document can easily be accessed through the outline in the “Archives” section, but the document alleges that TMCHC, and Rue, deliberately tried to put Chris’s life in danger by doxxing his full name and face. While the group chat DID find out Chris’s real name and face, what is important to know is that Chris made all of this information readily available and by definition, he was never doxxed.

His personal information was found out due to his own ineptitude, and lack of internet safety.

However, where the group chat found his name was found by unethical means, via a Doxbin which will not be linked, however Chris has been apologized to for using the Doxbin against him. Even so, the Doxbin was full of publicly available information Chris put out, that anyone could access and did not contain any information that would've been private at the time.

For example, Chris put his full first and last name on his public PayPal (which has since been changed as shown in the image of the PayPal below), and public Facebook page (which is now private and/or deleted after the initial situation), he also put his full name on his public Qobuz page (A website where he was selling music for his FNF mods at the time, mainly The Puppet Master from the mod of the same name.) where he is listed as the composer, even though he wasn't the one who made the song. Nobody else had his full name other than himself, and he willingly put it up on display and is now trying to warp the details to make it seem like he did no such thing.

Starting at $4.84

The Puppet Master (Friday Night Funkin' Mod Original Soundtrack)
TheMaskedChris LISTEN ON QOBUZ

1	The Puppet Master	BUY TRACK	00:14:27
2	The Puppet Master (Instrumental)	BUY TRACK	00:14:27

ABOUT THE ALBUM

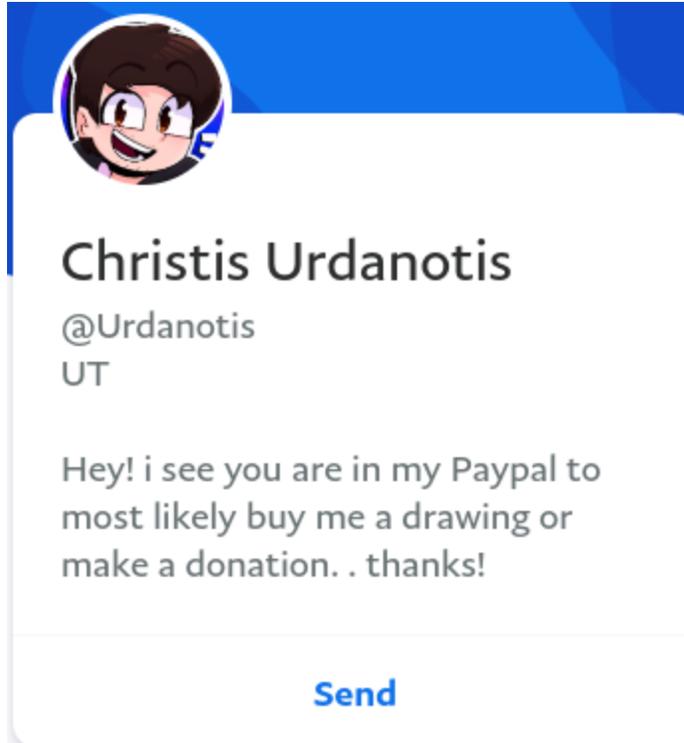

1 disc(s) - 2 track(s)
Total length: 00:28:54

Main artists: TheMaskedChris
Composer: Christian Urdaneta
Label: 3286138 Records DK
Genre: Soundtracks

16-Bit CD Quality
44.1 kHz - Stereo

2022 3286138 Records DK

Improve album information

Regarding his face, it was never doxxed or revealed without his consent, it was publically available on his Twitch when he streamed. He revealed his face willingly and is actively trying to backtrack, saying that TMCHC doxxed his face when he himself exposed it for everyone to see. As a result, people clipped the section where his face was shown and here we are. If Chris really had an issue with his face being exposed, he should have said something earlier or had the clip taken down instead of alleging that a group of people who'd (mostly) done nothing wrong had doxxed him.

In fact, a Twitter account with clips from his stream uploaded it MONTHS before TMCHC had known about said clip. It was public information, and it is Chris's own fault for revealing it.

<https://twitter.com/themaskedclip/status/1496689560121716745?s=20>

Even so, Chris to this day still tries to say that he never wanted his face to be revealed, which is completely fine, but the issue is that it was him being the one who revealed it, not anyone else. It was never done without his consent, it was done by himself on a stream that he was aware multiple people would see. The document Chris made also goes over things such as him drawing underage characters in sexual situations, you can take that as you will, as it won't be touched upon. Form your own opinion about that.

But before this document was even released, Rue had a depressive episode and attempted to take her own life. She had been admitted into a psychiatric ward not even a week after this, and both Chris and Blu know this, despite trying to say she "suicide baited". I must ask you, what reason does Rue have to fake a suicide attempt, knowingly sending her closest friends into a panicked state?

To give more context as to why Rue almost committed suicide, she felt extremely guilty for dragging her friends into the drama that she feels she should not have started and that was the only way. Keep in mind she was obviously manic and not thinking straight, having run away from home and sending her own family members, namely her mother, into panic mode. It should not have to be proven that she tried to kill herself, and the fact Blu and Chris still attempt to say that Rue faked it to accrue sympathy is incredibly disgusting. She spent the entire next day apologizing to multiple people, both her friends and people in TMCHC for worrying them and dragging them into this. Multiple people can vouch for this.

Backing out of a suicide attempt does not mean a person is baiting, to think so is extremely close-minded and disgusting. What the hell is that logic?

The situation ultimately ended with Rue not ending her life but being severely traumatized from the whole ordeal. Chris (or Blu) never apologized to her until 3 months later (which will be touched on in the next part).

To add onto the first part of the doc, Chris stated in his document that AnthemOverload, who was in the TMCHC groupchat, engaged in everything that he claimed Rue and the others did, when he did no such thing. Even Rue can vouch for that as she was the most active member. Anthem would make his own doc, where he stated that, despite being in the groupchat, he had very little involvement in it and would only occasionally interact with the other members. In fact, he barely helped make the video Rue had made regarding Chris, and was only brought in to give context to the situation between himself and Chris.

Anthem's document can be found here: Anthem on Twitter: "Since this needed to be clarified. https://t.co/mqgenPu1si" / Twitter  I don't even think this needs a title.

IV. Chris Causes Someone to almost Commit Suicide: Extended (Aftermath/Present Day)

After this, almost everyone moved on from the situation without a word. But this did not mean that everyone had recovered.

One of the old members from the group chat, gamechanger078, had gone out of her way to make post after post about Chris's wrongdoings, especially because of the fact he had viciously, hatefully lied about Rue and the other members of the TMCHC group chat and had gone unpunished.

But eventually, Blu reached out to message her.

While yes, everyone can admit joking about coming to Blu's house and shooting up his school after being doxxed is objectively bad, and Rue HAD genuinely apologized for saying those things, as the last section explained, they were nothing but jokes. There would have to be intent or actual actions threatening either Chris or Blu's safety to have been actual serious threats.

Even so, what in the hell are you expecting someone who's been affected by you two to the brink of suicide to feel towards you? Are you expecting things to be fine and dandy just because Rue was essentially forced into giving an insincere apology to you?

Not to mention though not even proof is provided of either the school shooting or Swat threat, all that's left is either a goofy threat or just a simple "I want to kill him /srs". You can't make those claims and not provide screenshots that are damning enough to actually get her into trouble.

And regarding Blu “literally reaching out to them through one of the people in the GC to make sure she was okay and hadn’t hurt herself”, this is what he’s referring to. He did no such thing besides alleging that Rue was making “suicide threats” when at the moment she had already run away from home and was on the brink of actually taking her life.

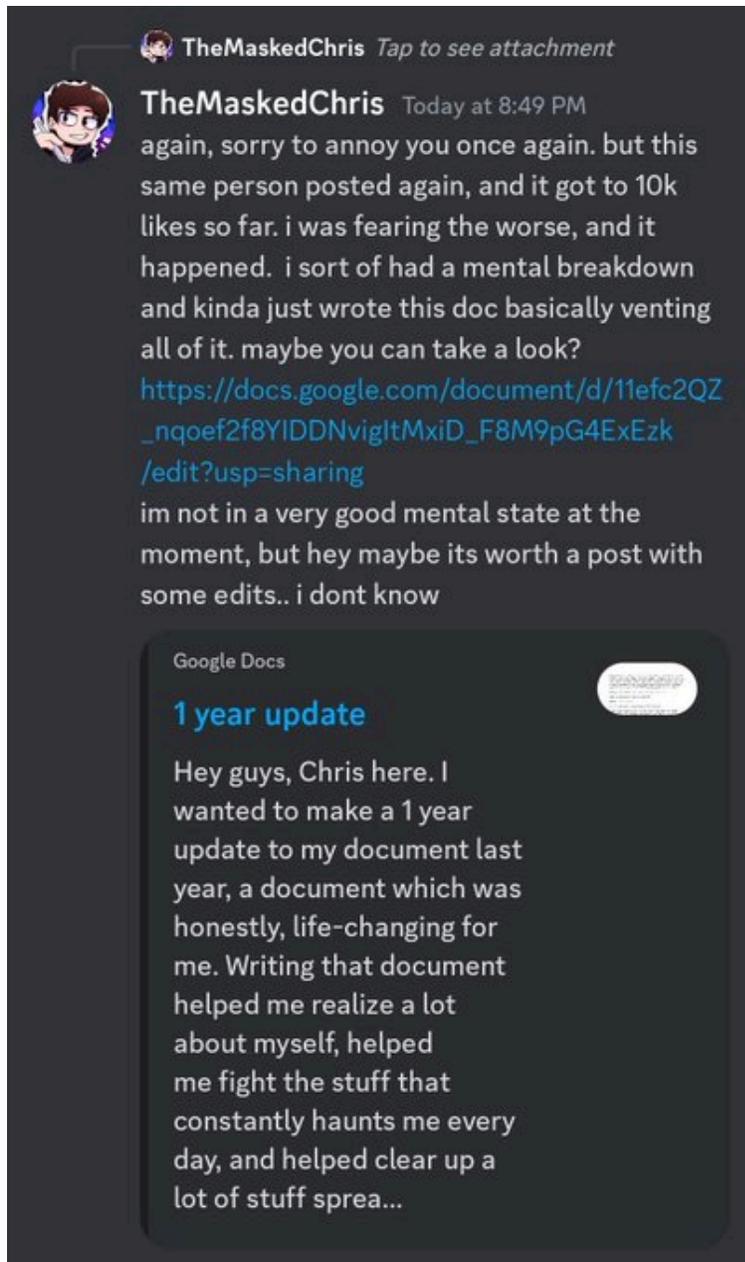

This isn’t going to be the first time Blu tries to say that Rue “sui-baited” or made “suicide threats”. Keep this in mind.

A few months later, Gamechanger made this post. This triggered Chris to make another document, especially after she had told multiple people what he had done.

Note from gamechanger078: The main reason I included Dream and Vivziepop in this tweet alongside Chris was because all three are considered controversial in some way and they all have aggressive fanbases. I was not comparing the severity of their actions, especially Viv since she has been said to be (allegedly) innocent. I also included her and Dream because they both had controversies the day that I made the tweet. With Dream, he basically incited his fanbase to harass someone who said the plushies he showed off on his Twitter were ugly. With Viv, it was the doc that KenDraws made on her, although, looking back, I do see why her inclusion may have been seen as a bad move. As for Chris, well it should be obvious at this point why he was included there.

Chris messaged Hobqueer, claiming he wasn't in a "good mental state" because of the post she had made, allegedly "fearing the worst". What could he have been fearing other than getting outed for being a horrible person?

We are of the personal belief this document was made to garner sympathy from Chris's fans, along with ONCE AGAIN misinforming and lying about pieces of information regarding the TMCHC group chat incident.

Now, let's debunk this document.

Firstly, to get this nonsense out of the way. Chris, you were not doxxed. This was covered in the last section, but all the information in the doxbin about him was information he himself put out. Chris seems to have no sense of internet safety so all of this ultimately falls onto himself. This was never the group chats fault, and the only thing you can legitimately accuse them of is finding your doxbin, because they had no business to do that, regardless of if they like you or not, along with the jokes about shooting up Blu's school.

I'm happy to say, Mostly everything has been peaceful, besides some unrelated people not being able to let go and still bringing it up today.

I've been seeing some people trying to claim that the doc last year was bs?? That the dox was fake????

I didn't work for 3 weeks writing that for it to be bs. I didn't go through the worst year of my life for that to document to be bs. I didn't fear for my life that entire time for it to be fake. It's almost funny how some people can twist a narrative like that. It's almost like they think people can't be genuine– that people are incapable of changing for the better.

In the comments, Gamechanger actively tried to disprove multiple claims Chris has made. In every reply Chris sent her, he exposed himself more and more. This is the most baffling account of reputation assassination that a person could ever witness.

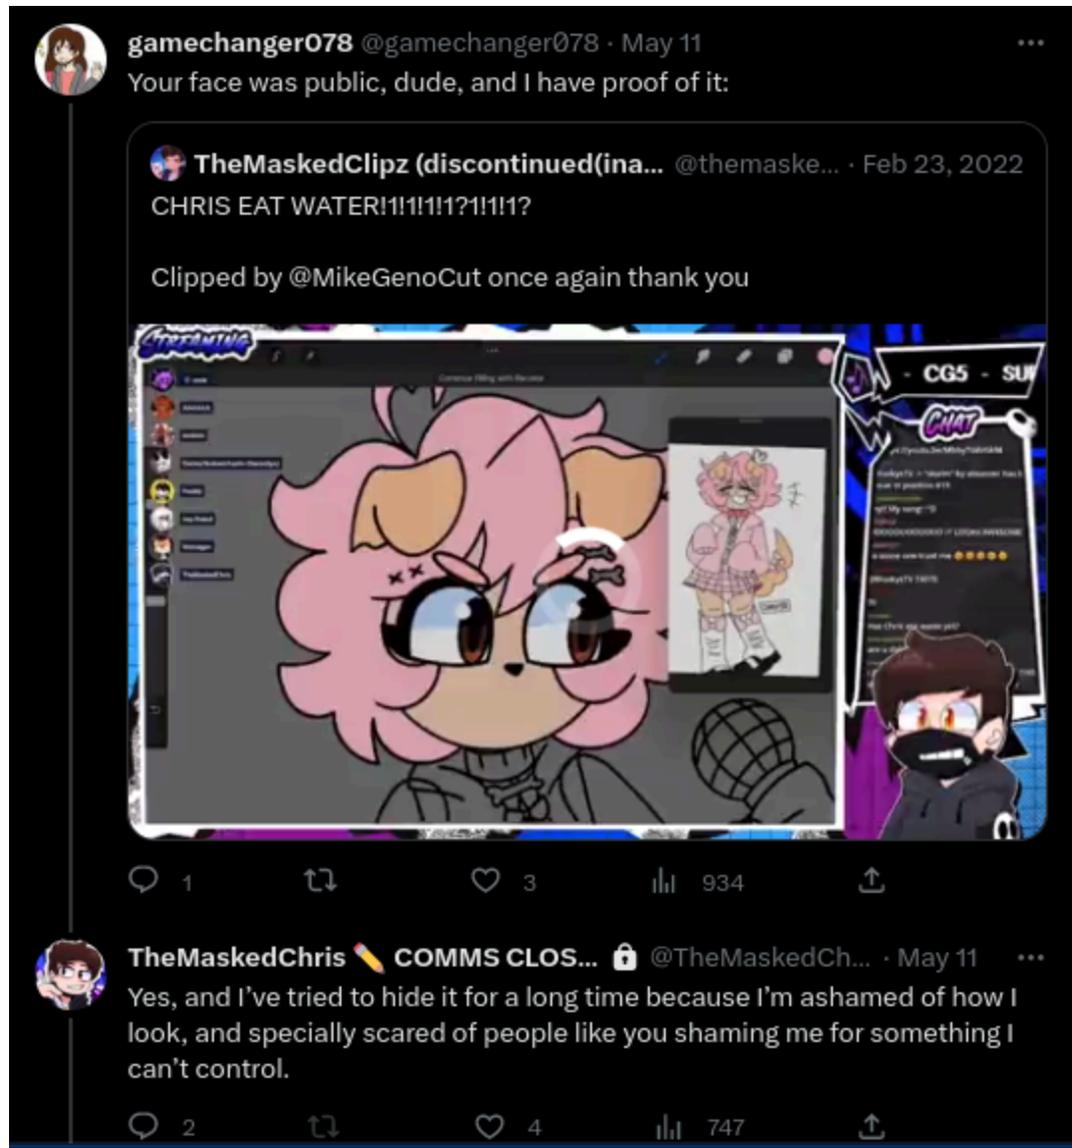

Firstly, Chris straight up admits that he did not apologize to Rue for almost pushing her to suicide, instead opting to contact Hobqueer about it. This resulted in her not receiving an apology for almost 3-4 months

Once again, Chris suicide baits and brings up his own suicidal thoughts in their conversation when nothing warranted it, along with alleging she “leaked” his face.

Something to note about this is that Chris admits that he knew that his face was public, immediately backtracking from saying that Gamechanger and the TMCHC group chat leaked it. What is it, pick one or the other Christian.

Furthermore, Blu replied to gamechanger and made this absolutely VILE tweet slandering Rue with misinformation in an attempt to damage both Rue's and Gamechanger's credibility. Fortunately, he was quote tweeted to hell and back.

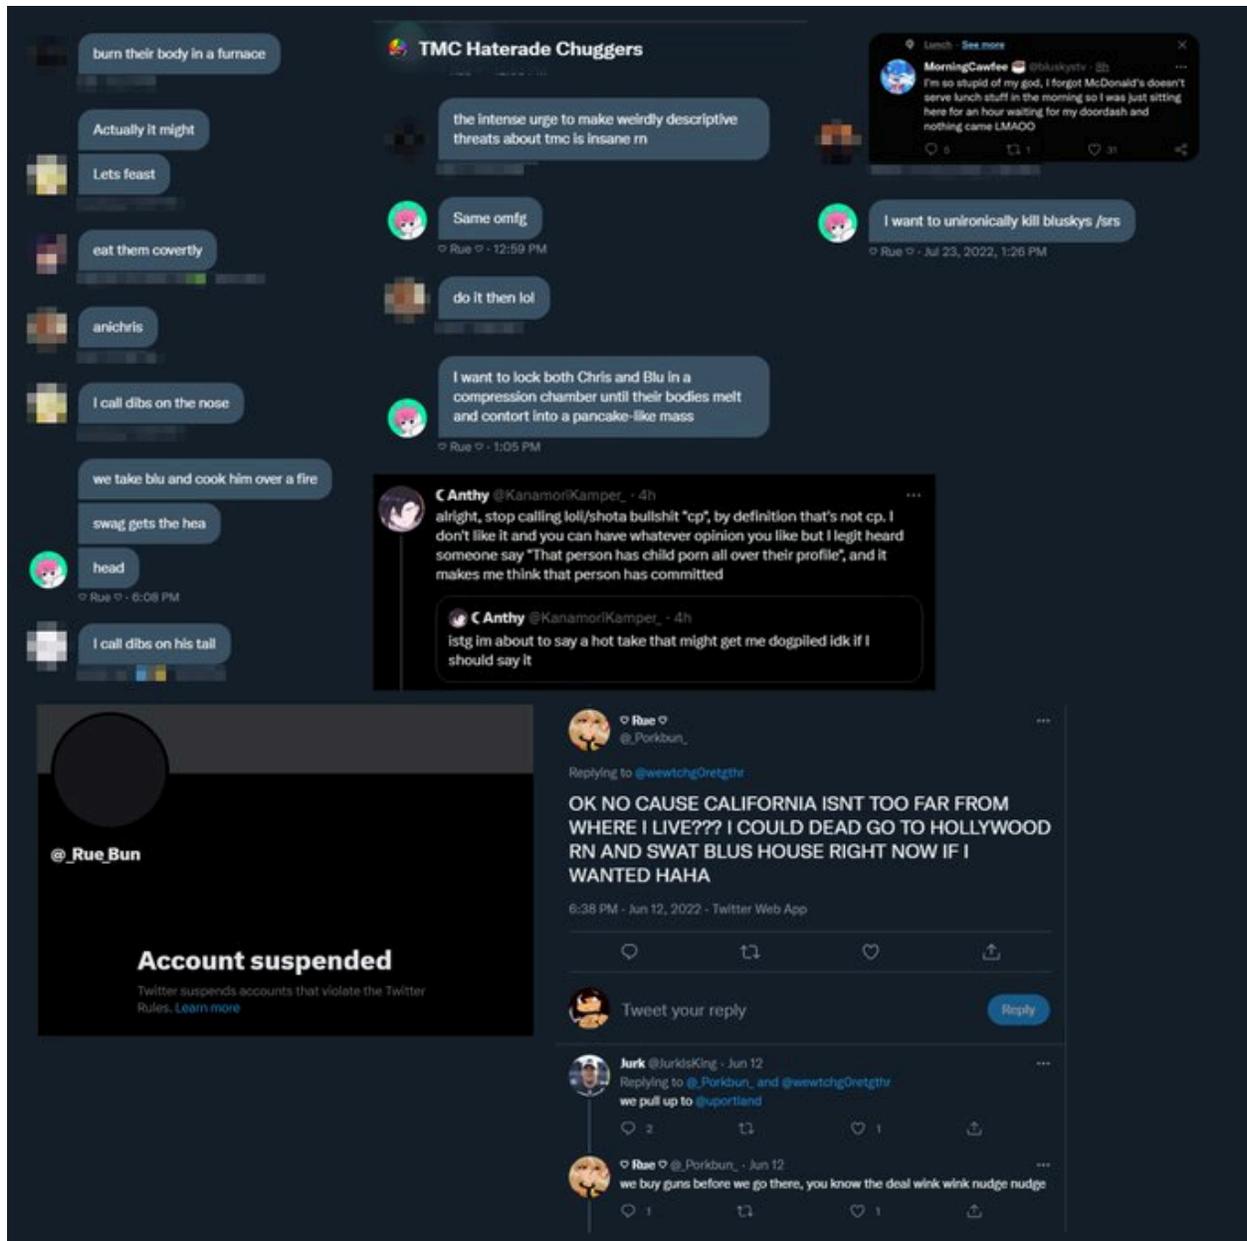

Blu
@bluskystv

So you're just going to constantly qrt chris for months and never mention how rue:

- stalked him
- threatened to kill me and shoot up my school
- threatened to swat my house
- threatened to kill chris
- defended l*li/sh*ta
- got suspended for harassment and then sui-baited?

Under this tweet, Blu attaches this image. Let's go over it.

To get the obvious out of the way, Rue was never suspended for harassment and her having her Twitter account suspended has nothing to do with BLU, its completely unrelated to the situation. She's had multiple suspended Twitter accounts and during this particular time, she wasn't even sent an email about why she was banned.

Two, we've already gone over the jokes Rue and the other members of the group chat made. Now that we've actually seen what she said about them, these are obviously nothing more than jokes. Tell me, how and why would Rue have to resort to cannibalism, or locking Blu and Chris in a compression chamber? Where would she even get access to the materials to carry out these plans? These aren't practical methods of killing them. These are nothing more than JOKES. What can be criticized are her tweets about shooting up his school, which once again, she has apologized for multiple times and to this day she admits she was wrong for.

Regarding the loli/shota tweets, Rue never defended it nor has ever admitted to liking said content. In fact, she is a survivor of CSA and has made fun of lolicons and people who are public consumers of such material multiple times. Blu blatantly crops out the second half of her tweet to blatantly defame her.

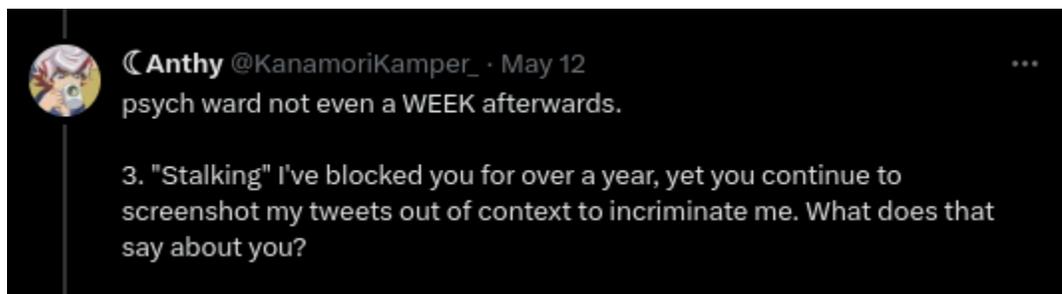

Her point was that while child porn and loli/shotacon are bad, both are different things and do not equal the same things, one being objectively worse than the other. She even says both are bad. Rue's main point is that people need to stop using words without knowing their meaning. To say someone has child porn all over their profile makes her think there are images of real-life children being exploited and hurt, not prepubescent anime girls in disgusting positions, which to remind you, she still thinks is extremely gross.

And finally, Blu's claims of stalking. At the time of making that tweet, Rue had both Blu blocked. In fact, she had blocked him for almost over a year and had only uttered his name when either someone spread misinformation about her or TMCHC, when a situation with Chris happened, or when they said her name, which we can all agree is extremely fair play.

She had said multiple times that she would not say anything until someone else said something. She never went out of her way to screenshot Chris or Blu's tweets or constantly look at their accounts, which both of them (mostly Blu) are incredibly guilty of.

This is a reminder that the reason the screenshots of Rue saying she wanted to cannibalize Chris and kill are Blu are only available is because Blu himself admits to sending someone into the TMCHC group chat to spy on it, which by definition, is stalking. Plus, his screenshot of Rue's tweet regarding loli/shota content and CP was shown to be taken a few hours after the tweet was made, showing that Blu was likely stalking Rue's account even after he claimed in his chat with Gamechanger that the situation was "done and dealt with", which he claimed the people in the group chat said, when nobody really did.

This tweet Rue made debunking his claims says all that needs to be said, really.

Blu blocked her after this, which is very telling behavior of him.

But after this, he'd contacted Hobqueer once again, for some odd reason thinking that she owes him something because of the fact she reached out in an attempt to stop his friends with 50 THOUSAND followers from targeting a person with barely a thousand themselves.

Bluskys

feeling like floyd i...

Hob, you know I respect you. We've shown each other mutual respect ever since you joined the private gc and helped Jurk, Chris, and I with the document in the first place.

Turning that around and saying I invaded your space, which was designed specifically for you all to make awful conversation about harming/harassing Chris feels disingenuous.

Consent wasn't needed when Chris's doxxed information was involved, that's why all of this happened in the first place.

Also that entire groups purpose was stalking Chris and his discord looking for talking points for Rue's video. It shouldn't be suprising. This is a two-way system

I apologize for calling what-ever Rue was going through suicide bait. From my perspective, Rue got outted for being an piece of shit, everything that was said in the gc, joking or non-joking, and then turned around and threatened her own life, and then Chris and I were blamed for that.

Her saying she was close to my house, knew my location because of a dox, and then threatening violence is not a fucking joke. I hope you all understand these words have consequences. Same with all that awful shit that was said about Chris. Joking or not, you can't say that and then turn around and tell me "calm down son it was just a ioke".

Bluskys Today at 6:22 PM

Rue telling me to "grow thicker skin" makes no sense when she talked about shooting up my school, and swatting me (with my address that was doxxed)

The reason you came to me and chris in the first place is because you knew that gc was fucked up, and you wanted the drama to end, right?

queer Today at 6:31 PM

no the reason why I came to you was because I found the conflict harmful from both sides and wanted to stop my friends from being harassed.

Also you DID invade the gc. Explaining what the gc is doesn't change the fact that you were literally spying on us.

"Oh you should've seen it coming that I would try to infiltrate the gc" wow and that changes anything?

look man, idk why you reached out to me just because i responded to your stupid reply and got 5 more likes than you.

Bluskys Today at 6:38 PM

That's not why, I'm trying to open a dialogue so I can understand

queer Today at 6:39 PM

Understand what.

Bluskys Today at 6:39 PM

I was told what you were talking about in the gc by a friend, and once I saw the kinds of things that were being said, I told Chris. That is the full extent

queer Today at 6:39 PM

You literally said that you were in the gc blu.

Bluskys Today at 6:40 PM

I was not. I had a friend send me stuff

queer Today at 6:40 PM

You said you had an account in they're @queer You said you had an account in they're

Bluskys Today at 6:40 PM

So I wouldn't jeopardize them getting me info (edited)

queer Today at 6:40 PM

That's still besides the point I don't care enough about this to dwell on it

Bluskys Today at 6:41 PM

The point is what was said inside.
All I did was get screenshots of what was said in the gc. And then Rue broke down and blamed me and Chris for it
Why are we blamed for their words?

queer Today at 6:42 PM

dude what do you want

Bluskys Today at 6:43 PM

I want you to understand my side instead of making things up on twitter.

queer Today at 6:43 PM

Blu you literally tried to claim that rue is pro-shota

Bluskys Today at 6:43 PM

And I want gamechanger to stop all this shit for no reason

queer Today at 6:44 PM

how tf am I supposed to stop that I am literally not in the community anymore
I only replied to what you said because I was pissed off

Bluskys Today at 6:44 PM

You're valid for that, and that's fair.

I'm pissed off too because I'm being told things I'm not, by Rue who has done equally fucked up shit, and now I'm being dragged back in because they're blaming me for their suicide attempt despite me being a fucking messenger.

queer Today at 6:46 PM

Also she never threatened violence.

Threatened is not the word you're looking for

It was implied. A threat is "I WILL"

Not "what if"

Bluskys Today at 6:47 PM

Put yourself in my and chris's shoes. Our locations are public against our will, and then Rue decides to "joke" about taking actions against us. Should I have just shrugged that off?

queer Today at 6:47 PM

 yeah

because she's just some random on the internet with no signs of actually committing acts of violence

Bluskys Today at 6:48 PM

Then I'm sorry. I could not simply shrug it off. I am a human too, and I feared for my safety. Because in my eyes, she would have easily swatted me.

queer Today at 6:48 PM

mfer I literally was doxxed too
I'm not downplaying this

Bluskys Today at 6:49 PM

Yeah, I know nothing normally gets done with that info.

I was never apologized to by Rue for anything they said. And then I was told I was responsible for their suicide attempt. So what should I do?

queer Today at 6:50 PM

I don't fucking know I'm not your consultant for this stuff

Bluskys Today at 6:51 PM

Well you were apart of it. So I'm asking you what it would take for you and gamechanger to get off me and Chris' back.

queer Today at 6:51 PM

Nothing.

Sorry I'm not playing this game

Bluskys Today at 6:52 PM

No progress is being made and nothing's going to get done from this

queer Today at 6:52 PM

I'm not on your back I literally made 4 replies that got 10 likes max

Bluskys Today at 6:52 PM

I don't give a fuck about likes or retweets. I care about principle and fixing mistakes

That's why I'm here. To hear what you have to say, because I value your opinion

This isn't a game. It's just a bunch of people talking shit on twitter.

I could care less. I just wanna know if there's a way to solve this fucking problem

Because otherwise Gamechanger is never going to drop this or move on and it'll just be their entire life.

queer Today at 6:54 PM

blu it's not something to solve you've made a response just ignore it let it go move on and it's not my problem either

Bluskys Today at 6:54 PM

alright

NEW MESSAGES

Bluskys Today at 6:55 PM

I'll stop babysitting for Chris, I'm tired of responding to this shit anyway

We've talked about Blu and Chris's replies, but now we have to go over Chris's actual document. To tell a long story short, the document is an example of Chris attempting to get sympathy from his fans, all the while suicide-baiting and blaming his actions on possible neurodivergency. (Keep in mind both Chris and Blu have accused Rue of suicide baiting, and additionally, Rue is autistic herself yet has never blamed her behavior on it.)

I heavily recommend you read the original document to get the context. (See link below)

Addressing the rumors, the doxx, and other stuff.

TRIGGER WARNING

This document will contain mentions of/discussion related to:

- Mental-health related topics (such as depression and/or anxiety)
- Self-harm
- Suicide
- Vomiting

I've been going to therapy for a while due to various mental health issues, such as my depression and anxiety. It's honestly helped a lot with my improvement over time. Having someone to talk to about anything, and having them help me deal with those issues, is something that cannot be underappreciated. She's been helping me deal with my past actions and trauma accordingly, and I couldn't be more grateful for her help. Me and my therapist are suspecting that I may have either ADHD or Autism, so I'll start properly testing for those soon.

While I'm nervous about the results of these future tests, I'm excited about the possibility of being able to deal with those mental conditions more directly. A lot of my issues in the past, in school, relationships, and even in online environments, can potentially be traced back to undiagnosed ADHD and/or Autism, or even something else. I'm happy that I'm able to get the help that I need, and that after all these years, I might be able to more effectively deal with my possible conditions.

I've been going to therapy for a while due to various mental health issues. My problems with depression, anxiety, and so much more. This last year was honestly the worst year of my life. Having to deal with all the pressure, all that judgment, all the harassment, all of that self-reflection, having to deal with becoming an adult, the self-loathing, all of that self-harm, both mentally and physically. There was a period of time where I couldn't stop vomiting once a week for a couple of months, I remember these specific 2 weeks when I was writing the document, where I vomited once or twice a day for 2 weeks straight

All the negative attention, the harassment, the threats, the doxxing, the constant arguments and discourse. All the hate. I have never, ever feared for my life and well-being to the degree that I did last year. Not even the multiple life-threatening situations my family faced back in Venezuela made me feel that way.

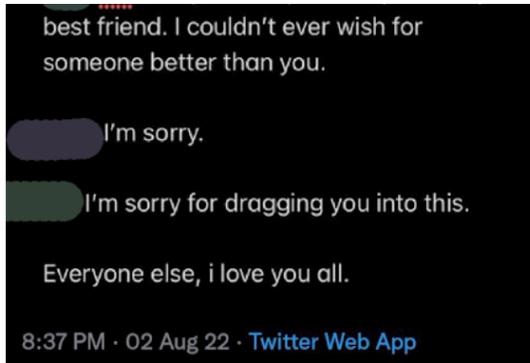

It broke my work routine, the content I do, my art itself, and my characters in general. It broke how I interact with people, my family, and my audience. It broke my view on life, my view of the people around me, and my view on the worth of life.

What I went through last year, is something that no man should ever go through.

It's hard for me to talk about this, and I did hint at this in a tweet some time ago. I almost took my life multiple times last year, even after posting the addressing document, where I thought I could feel finally at peace. I came under the pressure of those against me, and my own mental health, and almost cut my life short because of it. Being with a knife, self-harm, and overdosing. My attempts came close, but I'm still here. I'm just happy that my attempts were unsuccessful— that I'm still standing here today, living life and being able to talk to you all again. I'm sorry to the people close to me if this document is how you find out about my feelings and suicide attempts that I went through last year. I didn't want to worry any of you. I felt like I wasn't worth your trouble

Autism and ADHD aren't excuses for behavior like this. Harassing people, stalking, habitual lying, and suicide-baiting aren't traits of autism or ADHD, they are traits of being an absolutely horrible person. Multiple people in the TMCHC group chat are autistic and/or neurodivergent, including Rue, and not ONCE did they ever try to use their mental disabilities as an excuse for their actions. Autism does not define who you are, it is your choices that do that. This should be very obvious by now.

And in this same document, Chris delivers a backhanded apology to Rue about almost pushing to her suicide because she had apparently "broke when he was able to defend himself".

The moment when I was informed of this... I remember it clearly, but I can't even describe how I felt back then. I can't describe the sheer amount of fear and dread that came over me. The thought of someone coming close to this because of me.. It destroyed me. It destroyed me for a good while. I broke down in the middle of work, and was stuck in the bathroom for the rest of the day. I didn't want it to be real, I wasn't believing my eyes.

Please take a moment to read what was said. Rue accepted that she was in the wrong, that I was right in my document. And after dedicating so much to trying to prove me as a villain, she broke after I was able to defend myself. I'm not sure what things lead up to what, as I'm not a mental health professional, but I can only say that I am extremely sorry that this happened. I've never talked personally with Rue, the only little interaction I've had with her is the document last year, and some messages from contacts with her. For her to think that I wanted her dead is an awful feeling that words can't describe. No matter what, nobody should ever go through the feelings that she and I felt last year. Wanting your life to end is a horrible, destroying feeling nobody should ever go through, no matter what or who.

I didn't address this before because I wanted it resolved privately. I didn't want any unwanted attention brought onto Rue, so I apologized to her privately through a contact.

Rue did not accept that she was wrong, the only thing she accepted that she was wrong for were the threats she'd made against Blu's life. Explain what else she'd done wrong besides that. And once again, Chris never contacted her directly. In fact, this wasn't even an apology, Chris simply asked if Rue had done anything to herself. Both are vastly different actions. She never knew ANYTHING he had said. This just shows that Chris is unable to own up to his actions and will do anything he can to avoid taking responsibility, giving backhanded and intermittent apologies, guilt-tripping his fanbase of extremely underage children into attacking innocent people, instead of the sincere ones that would've stopped all of this so long ago.

I've been going to therapy for a while due to various mental health issues. My problems with depression, anxiety, and so much more. This last year was honestly the worst year of my life. Having to deal with all the pressure, all that judgment, all the harassment, all of that self-reflection, having to deal with becoming an adult, the self-loathing, all of that self-harm, both mentally and physically. There was a period of time where I couldn't stop vomiting once a week for a couple of months, I remember these specific 2 weeks when I was writing the document, where I vomited once or twice a day for 2 weeks straight. All the negative attention, the harassment, the threats, the doxxing, the constant arguments and discourse. All the hate. I have never, ever feared for my life and well-being to the degree that I did last year. Not even the multiple life-threatening situations my family faced back in Venezuela made me feel that way. It broke my work routine, the content I do, my art itself, and my characters in general. It broke how I interact with people, my family, and my audience. It broke my view on life, my view of the people around me, and my view on the worth of life. What I went through last year, is something that no man should ever go through. It's hard for me to talk about this, and I did hint at this in a tweet some time ago. I almost took my life multiple times last year, even after posting the addressing document, where I thought I could feel finally at peace. I came under the pressure of those against me, and my own mental health, and almost cut my life short because of it. Being with a knife, self-harm, and overdosing. My attempts came close, but I'm still here. I'm just happy that my attempts were unsuccessful— that I'm still standing here today, living life and being able to talk to you all again. I'm sorry to the people close to me if this document is how you find out about my feelings and suicide attempts that I went through last year. I didn't want to worry any of you. I felt like I wasn't worth your trouble.

Please keep in mind that this document was only made because Chris feared the worst for his own reputation. Chris has only brought up his suicidal feelings to garner sympathy and redirect the vitriolic hatred he holds for TMCHC and Rue back to them. Both Blu and Chris have said that Rue suicide baited when this is exactly what he's doing here. This is textbook emotional manipulation, bringing up your own suicidal thoughts to gain sympathy.

And I hear you ask, why don't we care about Chris's mental health? Why should any of us care about his mental health when he spreads pure, hateful lies about not just us, but about Anthem, about Moikey, about multiple people who have yet to receive justice, and continues to do so to this very day without punishment? Give us a genuine reason why we should forgive him. There is no reason and there never will be a good reason.

How DARE Chris try and say that Rue's suicide attempt was fake when he goes around using his own suicidal thoughts to gain sympathy. He is a disgusting human being and this revolting behavior has gone on for too long. By now, you should understand why Chris is a horrible person. He almost pushed a person to suicide, is a pedophile apologist, violently harassed and lied about his detractors and multiple other people, and tried to suicide bait (which, just to jog your memory, he accused Rue of) to gain sympathy.

Chris as of recently has been teetering off into becoming a major lolcow and I don't think anyone has really noticed. How does Chris fit the definition of a lolcow, you may be asking?

- Raging at his detractors
- Harassing his detractors
- Using the internet as his own personal diary
- Suicide-baiting (He did the same thing he accused Rue of, by the way)
- Violent behavior towards criticism
- Threatening legal action against detractors
- Harassing former associates

- Unchecked manic episodes/behaviors
- Delusional behavior
- Superiority complex
- Playing the victim card
- The whole lolicon thing
- Covering up his bad actions
- Narcissism
- Refusal to admit faults

Now I'm sure you're wondering why this kind of thing is even being mentioned here. Well, it is simply because it is the best term to describe Chris in these situations. Given how he acts regarding them and how poorly he tends to handle them, it is very easy to describe it all as shitty behavior that can be "milked" for laughs. It may seem a little silly to mention, but that's just how it is.

If Chris decides to continue, he'll become just like Chris Chan or someone of that nature. At this point, everything for Chris is going to go downhill unless he decides to genuinely change for the better, which he seems to have the staunch inability to do due to his own stubbornness and inability to face the facts and admit he's wrong. His behavior over the past year has been absolutely revolting and it is about time he faced the consequences of his actions, especially considering how serious they are.

Thank you for reading.

V. Conclusion/Notes from Writers

Pink Highlighted text - Rue/Anthy Speaking

There have been posts and videos covering the situation, and honestly, fair play. They're mostly semi-decent coverage about what happened but I feel it is best to hear about this stuff directly from the people, or person, that it happened to. This drama originally occurred in July/August 2022 and as of the writing of this doc, it is May of 2023. It has almost been a year. I have previously stated that I would not speak about what had happened unless Chris or Blu said anything about me or continued to lie about things regarding the situation, to which they frequently do. But over time, I've felt some sort of compulsion to give people my side of the story in a much more detailed fashion than a Twitter thread where Chris's fans would try to desperately one-up me by commenting dumb things, like attempts to "ratio" me, and because Chris genuinely does not deserve a platform after all the shit that he has pulled. I am not going to lie around and let Chris's backhanded and intermittent apologies warp public perception of the situation, me, and my friends at large.

Finally, to Chris (and Jake, I suppose) since I know the both of you are potentially reading this right now: I don't want your apology. I refuse to accept it. You have had multiple chances to come clean about what both you and Jake have done and it has resulted in you torching your already ruined reputation. If you feel the urge to make a tweet or document responding to this just to grovel about how sorry you are or saying how wrong I am, just don't. This situation is done. If you make any of the previous mistakes you've made, try to sugarcoat what you have done, downplay what you did, downplay my own mental health via framing it as "sui-bait", or lie about me and my friends, I WILL respond and I am prepared to defend myself, publicly. I don't forgive you and I probably never will. Keep your head down and things might go easier for you. The backlash will die down eventually so you don't have to worry about endless harassment. However, no one will forget about what you did, it will follow you to your very last breath and nothing will ever change that. The shot might fade but the wound will always be there.

If you really want to apologize to someone, apologize to your followers for blatantly lying to their faces, along with manipulating them. With that being said, I'm done with this situation.

Green Highlighted text - gamechanger078 Speaking

I'm gamechanger078 and I am one of the people helping to write this doc, as well as the person who provided some of the screenshots posted on it. I mainly want to say that I genuinely hope that Chris and Blu face actual consequences for everything they've done. Their actions have caused a lot of harm to quite a bit of people, myself included. However, despite it all, I have been asking myself a question: Do I believe that Chris and Blu can change? The answer is probably. I believe that, with enough time and effort, they could definitely change and become better people. Now comes another question: Would I ever be able to forgive them? To be honest, not really. The fact that they drove one of my good friends into a suicide attempt was already enough to make me really hate them, but combining that with everything else they've done only makes that hatred grow. I don't see myself forgiving them even if they completely changed and became really good people. Also, to anyone wondering about Chris' claim that I was in his replies and quotes for months, yes that is true. Each time I replied to him or quote tweeted him and talked about these situations, it was to warn his fans about his actions and hopefully bring more attention to them. I will not deny that I did it and I believed that it was the best way to make everyone aware of everything that has happened. One last thing I want to mention to any of Chris' or Blu's fans who are reading this. Unless you are a victim of theirs or someone who was personally affected by these situations, you do NOT have the obligation to forgive Chris or Blu, even if they apologize. That obligation goes to the victims/people affected such as Anthem, Rue, myself, etc. That is all I have for now. Please do the right thing and not let Chris or Blu get away with everything like they've done like they have multiple times already.

Blue Highlighted text - Casty speaking

Hello, my name is Casty and I'm the archivist for this doc, and I just want to say...Fuck you Chris, you fucking lolcow. I used to be a fan of you back in 2021, but when I saw your shitty and downright lulzy behavior, I just stopped supporting you entirely.

Archives

Chris' Twitter (in case he deletes it): <https://archive.ph/JPors>, <https://archive.ph/NYUG2>

Chris' public Paypal (Originally had his real name, don't send him any money please):

<https://archive.ph/i3kmM>

Chris' YouTube: <https://archive.ph/n2V8F>

Chris' Ko-Fi (again, don't send him any money please): <https://archive.ph/g6t81>

Chris's first document: <https://archive.ph/vbZAO>

Chris's second document: <https://archive.ph/KhuDK>

Moikey's tweets about Chris: <https://archive.ph/HEMV3>, <https://archive.ph/LV9jm>

The Qobuz page where Chris' real name is shown: <https://archive.is/cdilk>

The Qobuz page with Chris's full name: <https://archive.is/unKo6>

TheMaskedChris Qobuz page: <https://archive.ph/6ib6i>

The video where Chris's face is revealed: <https://archive.is/m3lQ9>

Seabo's tweet about Blu: <https://archive.ph/L6D15>

Seabo's doc about Blu: <https://archive.ph/jCibU>

Blu's horrid tweets about Rue: <https://archive.ph/lW0wd>, <https://archive.ph/pdtlV>

Anthem's tweet on the document about Chris: <https://archive.ph/ne0mb>

Anthem's actual document on Chris: <https://archive.ph/s1Z5g>